Five Shot in Negro Lynching Attempt 3 RESCUED FROM WATER AT NEWPORT

MOB FOILED IN PLOT TO KILL BLACKS

Two Thousand Infuriated Men and Women Storm County Jail In Dallas
TURN HOSE ON CROWD
Firemen Play Streams of Water on Beseigers As They Approach Building

DALLAS, Tex., May 21.—Five men were shot, one seriously, and scores were injured in a clash with officers when a mob estimated at 2000 men and women stormed the county jail here early today in a futile attempt to lynch Frank and Lorenzo Noel, confessed negro murderers. Dwight Stewart, 25, shot in the breast, will recover, physicians said.

The attack came shortly after 1 a. m., after the crowd had been held back by firemen who played streams of water when the crowd ventured near the building. More than 100 shots were fired during the brief fray. The beseiging mob dispersed at dawn. Seventy-five officers, armed with shotguns and tear bombs, went on duty following the attack and will be kept at the jail to avert further disturbances.

Frank Noel gave written and oral confessions to officers yesterday in connection with the murder of W. L. Milstead, and Ryan Adkins, and assaults upon their women companions in the last few weeks. In his confession, Noel implicated his brother, Lorenzo, in the slaying of Adkins. Both negroes were indicted by a grand jury yesterday. Trial of Frank Noel has been set for May 28 and Lorenzo for June 4.

OREGON TOWN IS CAUGHT IN FLOOD

LEXINGTON, Ore., May 21.—Lexington citizens were digging themselves out of the mud today after yesterday afternoon's flood, which swept the town, demolishing small buildings and filling the streets with water.

A wall of water from a cloudburst rushed down the narrow Blackhorse canyon and caused damage as yet undetermined. Highways and bridges in the canyon were washed out. In Lexington, the telephone exchange, postoffice and a harness shop were washed across the main street.

One house had a foot of mud in it today. An abandoned store building collapsed before the onrushing water.

Editor Will Be Tried for Libel

YUMA, Ariz., May 21.—George W. Lyon, editor of the Yuma Evening Herald, will face trial here June 1 on the first of three criminal libel actions preferred against him by E. F. Sanguinetti, millionaire rancher.

Lyon announced today he would go to court prepared to prove the charges made against Sanguinetti in his editorial columns. The millionaire claims Lyon libelled his character by accusing him of selling polluted milk and failing to make proper tax returns.

The editor spent four days in jail when first arrested, refusing to give bail as protest to his alleged persecution of Sanguinetti.

JAZZ GIRL HAPPY THAT SHE MUST STAND MURDER TRIAL

Eight Medical Specialists Decide That Dorothy Is Not Insane
French Guns to Be Tested At San Pedro

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Dorothy Ellington, jazz girl martirde, today rejoiced over the fact that she will at last stand trial for slaying her mother.

The 17-year-old cafe favorite, who for the last six weeks has been under observation in the state hospital at Napa, has gained the point she cried for—agreement of medical specialists that she is not insane.

Tomorrow morning, Dorothy will be brought back here from the asylum and taken into Judge Harold Lunderback's court, when a date will be set for the murder trial she has demanded from the first.

Decision of eight medical experts that the girl is not insane and never has been, was rendered to Judge Lunderback late yesterday by Dr. J. M. Scanlan, superintendent of the hospital.

Doctors Do Not Confer
"The opinion of each of the physicians who examined Dorothy was entirely an individual one," Dr. Scanlan reported. "We did not confer over her condition. From my own examination of the girl, I am convinced that she is not insane, never was insane, and it is now perfectly normal."

The medical opinion was greeted enthusiastically by Dorothy. "I am glad to hear it," she said. "I was hoping for that right along. It is bad enough to be considered a murderer without being called a lunatic at the same time. I will feel better now when I face the court."

Possibility that the girl will disclaim responsibility for her mother's slaying was hinted to-day. She will allege Jimmy La-Marr, one of her jazz playmates, did the shooting and has prepared a long story to this effect, some claim.

Will Ask Early Trial
The state will move to have Dorothy's murder trial set for an early date, possibly within the next two weeks. Assistant District Attorney Harmon D. Skillin, who headed the prosecution during the insanity hearing, will lead the state's attorneys this time.

Dorothy's father, Joseph Ellington, was in conference today with attorneys who urged her insanity during the first hearing, preparing a defense for the murder trial.

Dorothy's mother, Mrs. Anna Ellington, was shot to death January 13. The girl was captured two days later and at the time confessed the slaying, saying she killed her parent when she objected to Dorothy's wild night life.

Her attorneys claimed Dorothy was insane and she was so found by a jury, much against her desire.

Flood Maroons Passengers On Top of Stage

BAKERSFIELD, May 21.—Six passengers were marooned for two hours on the top of a stage coach when a torrent of water from a cloudburst swept the Taft-Bakersfield highway, near here.

H. Conner, driver of the bus, and E. F. Gattis, San Jose, slipped from their perch and were swept half a mile downstream, where they were rescued by farmers. The others clung to the roof until help arrived two hours later.

More than 100 feet of the highway was undermined by the floodwaters.

Towns Threatened By Forest Fires

LOANA, Wis., May 21.—Scores of villages in northern Wisconsin were threatened with extinction today, as new forest fires blazed their way on the wings of high winds.

GRAVE CRISIS IN FIGHT ON MODERNISM

Situation In Presbyterian Church Called Most Serious Since Civil War
WOULD FIRE PARSONS
Old Guard Is Ready to Remove Preachers Opposing Ancient Doctrines

COLUMBUS, O., May 21.—Dr. Charles Erdman, of the Princeton Theological seminary, was elected moderator of the National Assembly of the Presbyterian church here today. This was a victory for the Modernist faction, of which Dr. Erdman was leader.

Facing an open break over the principles which have given birth to the Modernist-Fundamentalist controversy, the 137th annual assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America opened here today.

Leaders declared the present crisis to be the most serious of any since that which split the denomination into North and South during the Civil war—a breach which has never been healed.

Bryan Leads One Side
On one side were the militant Fundamentalists, led by William Jennings Bryan, and bent on throwing out of the church all ministers who decline to ascribe to the old Presbyterian creed, including belief in such Biblical miracles as the changing of water into wine and the raising of Lazarus from the dead.

On the other side stood the Modernists, outnumbered by their opponents, but determined, nevertheless, to fight for authority to remain within the church and teach what they call a saner and more liberal view of Biblical supernaturalism.

The first session of the assembly opened this morning with Dr. Edward MacArthur, retiring moderator, delivering his annual sermon, keynote of the Fundamentalist battle and a bitter arraignment of Modernism in religion.

No Dread of Controversy
"I do not dread controversies, divisions, separations," said Dr. MacArthur, "for they serve to discover who is on God's side."

The world's unbelief has been carried so far in some churches and colleges that Paul and John and Peter would never recognize what is called a Christian sermon in some places today, the retiring moderator said.

Dr. MacArthur's principal criticism of Modernism was that it has "set up a literary Jesus" and a religion "where virtually nothing is a sin."

EVOLUTION BORN OF DEVIL, SAYS SQUIRE
DAYTON, Tenn., May 21.—The theory of evolution is a thing of evil, born of the devil, and fostered by infidel minds, in the opinion of Squire Arthur Benson.

Benson is one of three justices of the peace who found John T. Scopes, biology teacher, had taught Darwinism and held him for action of the grand jury which meets in special session Monday.

"According to the newspapermen," said Benson, "the county thinks this is some kind of a joke, that the legislature was just having a good time when it enacted this law."

TALBERT WILL BE NAMED TO LAND OFFICE POSITION

County Official to Be Register and Receiver at Los Angeles
T. B. TALBERT

Thomas B. Talbert, of Huntington Beach, chairman of the Orange county board of supervisors, will be appointed register and receiver of the U. S. land office in Los Angeles. It is believed that he will receive the appointment within a month. It is expected that Talbert upon receiving appointment, will immediately resign as supervisor, so that there will be no delay in the transfer to the Los Angeles office.

That lines have been laid for Talbert's appointment, became known here today. Quiet work has been done by friends of Talbert in this country and in Los Angeles, with the result that those in command of the political situation in Southern California are reported to have agreed to Talbert's appointment.

Recently a meeting of Republican leaders of Southern California was held in Los Angeles. Dr. R. A. Cushman, of Santa Ana, chairman of the Orange County Republican Central committee, attended the meeting, and urged the endorsement of Talbert. It was agreed that the next federal judgeship should go to the San

JURY ACQUITS EX-GOVERNOR IN BRIBE CASE

TOPEKA, Kas., May 21.—Jonathan M. Davis stood exonerated today of charges that he solicited a bribe for the parole of Walter Grundy, convict.

The former dirt farmer-governor was found not guilty by a jury late last night of conspiring with Carl J. Peterson, former state bank commissioner, to sell the parole for $2500.

The verdict was reached on the fourth ballot, just three hours and 10 minutes after the jurors had begun their deliberations.

Davis, who was in the courtroom when the verdict was returned, thanked each juror personally. "I just didn't feel guilty at all of these charges," he remarked.

There was a sharp burst of applause from spectators when the verdict was announced. The trial had been in progress eight days.

Today Davis and his wife are going back to their Bourbon county farm.

Davis was arrested during the last few days in office last year after an alleged exposé by the Kansas City Journal-Post of so-called "pardon selling."

Friends of the governor believe he will not attempt to re-enter politics, although Davis has intimated that he would not throw aside all of his political ambitions because of the charge against him.

Grand Army Will Pass In Review

COUNTY WINS $150 RENTAL CASE AGAINST HUNTINGTON BEACH JUSTICE OF PEACE

The county was victorious in its suit to recover $180, paid in rental allowance to Justice C. W. Warner, of Huntington Beach, judgment for that amount being rendered late yesterday by Justice Landell, at San Juan Capistrano.

The county brought suit against the justice, claiming that he had been collecting $10 per month from the county for office rent during a period of 18 months when he was receiving office quarters in the Huntington Beach city hall, free of charge.

3 RESCUED FROM WATER AT NEWPORT

Otto Bernard, of Balboa, Surrenders His Life In Effort to Save Others
AT HARBOR ENTRANCE
Ed Record Jr., Veler Rifle and William Swain Listed Among Survivors

ACTING the part of a marine Good Samaritan cost Otto Bernard, 43, Balboa, his life shortly before noon today. Bernard was drowned when he went to the rescue of two youths, whose canoe had been capsized off the entrance to Newport harbor. The two lads, together with a third youth who had swum to their assistance, were rescued.

Veter Riffle, 20, Yorba Linda, and Ed Record, 20, Murietta, went for a canoe rifle late this forenoon. Their craft was upset off the jetty. William Swain, 18, also of Yorba Linda, and a friend of the two boys, peered off their coat and shoes and swam toward them.

The trio managed to right the canoe. Riffle and Record climbed in and Swain held on to the gunwale while they paddled.

The canoe drifted with the outgoing tide and was carried out to sea. The powerboat "Tom Cat" picked them up and gave them a tow back to harbor. Arriving off the entrance, Bernard, who was in a row-boat, offered to take them in as the canoe was keeling over in the wash of the launch.

The boys were trailed behind Bernard's row-boat and were making good progress toward harbor when an extra heavy wave of the groundswell upset both the canoe and the row-boat, all four being pitched into the water.

Bernhard Disappears
Bernhard was not seen again. It is thought that his body was carried out to sea.

Swain and Record swam to the west shore of the channel. Riffle held on to the canoe and was carried out to sea and made a safe landing near the bathhouse, after experiencing a heavy battering in the breakers.

A launch piloted by Paul E. Page, which went out to search for Bernard, was damaged in the ground swell and the combers near the harbor entrance, but managed to weather the waves and was seen off shore at an early hour this afternoon.

Recalls 1924 Tragedy
The tragedy today recalls the catastrophe which cost the lives of eight persons June 8, last year. The party was on a fishing launch, the Adieu, which was capsized by ground swell and broken to pieces. Thirteen men and boys were in the party and all but five were drowned.

Only a few days ago the Register published a statement from Mrs. E. H. Granger, widow of one of the drowned men, urging that the harbor bonds be voted in order that a repetition of the tragedy be prevented.

Of the eight persons drowned at the harbor entrance last year, two were boys, the young sons of H. Newton Thornton, who also lost his life.

The tragedy also recalls the one which took place January, 1923, when three persons were drowned when their boat capsized.

Caleb D. Patterson Takes Own Life

The first panel of 100 prospective jurors neared exhaustion and still no juror was permanently accepted. The second panel was summoned at once in order to prevent delay.

ASK GOV'T TO OPEN TRABUCO SITE AS PARK

A resolution urging the United States forest service to obtain complete control of a portion of land in Trabuco canyon held by the Santa Ana Tin Mining company and open it for use as a public camp ground was passed by the board of directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce at the regular weekly meeting today, following a talk by T. E. Stephenson.

A copy of the resolution follows: "Whereas, the Santa Ana Tin Mining company for many years has occupied a large portion of the best part of Trabuco canyon, in the Cleveland National Forest, claiming this property to be mineral producing, and

"Whereas, we are informed that this company has been unable under the law to make a showable production or preserve of valuable minerals, and has been unable to secure patent rights to this property.

Need Property Opened

Resolved by the Santa Ana chamber of commerce that the United States forest service be requested and urged to take immediate steps to secure complete control of this property and open it to public use as public camp grounds."

Reaffirming their stand on the harbor bond matter, the directors instructed the harbor committee to call Supervisor S. H. Finley and urge him to vote to have a harbor bond election in October.

A reception and dance is planned when the new chamber of commerce home is completed in June, it was stated. According to present plans, there will be a reception from 8 to 10 p. m., followed by refreshments and dancing from 10 to 12 p. m.

Committees Meet Friday
It was announced that the various committees which are working to finance the municipal bond will meet in the city hall Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Following the reading of a letter from Col. M. D. Wellington, head of the local national guard company, the directors endorsed the so-called San Diego plan which provides that employees of chamber members be allowed 15 days in which to participate in the national guard encampment. The local company will be in camp from July 4 to 18.

SOCIETY

CHURCH SOCIETIES

The Doris Welles Auxiliary met for the monthly meeting at the home of Miss May Beamer on Monday evening.

Considerable time was spent with routine business, reports and discussing plans for missionary Christmas boxes. It was decided to make and send dresses for children to a school in North India, of which Miss Olive Kennard has direction.

Miss Pearl Kimball led the devotional service. The lesson was the final chapter of the study book "Ming Kwong" and was presented by Miss Bertha Briney. Members were pleased to have as a guest Miss Margaret Wian of Swatow, South China, now visiting in Santa Ana.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

First Presbyterian

Over one hundred members and friends gathered at the First Presbyterian church parlors yesterday to join in a busy day and share an appetizing noon-day dinner. Still others joined the group for the afternoon session which was a highly interesting one whose program details were in charge of Mrs. W. E. Roberts, wife of the pastor, Mrs. H. G. Pollock at the piano, offered a softly beautiful improvisation in which familiar old hymns were woven into soothing melody.

With "Friendship" as her theme, Mrs. Ida Blew led in devotional in a reverent and inspiring manner after which Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis sang in her own charming way, including a quaint negro dialect number in her group. Mrs. G. H. Bond followed her with two of the dainty dialect readings which she gives so delightfully. These were "Down the Mississippi" and "When the Co'n Pone's Hot," both given as only Mrs. Bond can give the inimitable dialect of the Old South.

Plans were discussed for the annual birthday luncheon to which the members look forward during the entire year. This will be held on June 17 and so popular is the affair and so largely attended that it is out-growing the confines of the church social rooms and this year will be held at the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Nancy Elder talked interestingly on her work among the girls and young women of the Y. W. C. A. and outlined her plans for the future ere the group of women reluctantly disbanded.

First Methodist

"As we love to honor our missionaries, so, in no less degree, do we love to know the missionaries mothers, who so cheerfully give their daughters to the great work in the home and foreign lands," declared Mrs. Horton Palmer, of the First Methodist Episcopal Woman's Foreign Missionary auxiliary, at the Wednesday afternoon session, in introducing her aunt, Mrs. Dressel, of Stockton. Mrs. Dressel is president of the German missionary auxiliary in her home city and also has the honor of being the mother of a missionary daughter in far away Chile.

"Remember His commandments to do them," were the words of the principal thought used by Mrs. Anna Robinson in the devotional hour. Miss Charlotte Carhart read a very interesting letter from Miss Olive Kennard in Paarl, North India, to whom the members of the Doris Welles auxiliary send gifts for her work. The auxiliary will again, at an early date, send 40 dresses for the girls in her school.

A letter from the society's own Doris Welles was also read. Miss Cleo Bowers delighted all with her splendid rendition of Carrie Jacobs Bonds' "I Have Finished My Work." Mrs. W. B. Snow, accompanied her at the piano. Mrs. W. A. Betts, who had charge of the lesson study, introduced as her substitute helpers, Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Lee and Mrs. McKee, who took as their subjects: "Conditions in General in South America," "A Glimpse Into the Heart of Uruguay," and "Victoria and Magnolia in Buenos Ayres," all excellently and interestingly given. Mrs. Davies spoke of the Little Light Bearers' work, there being seventy members last year and a ten per cent gain must be made to help complete the covering of the Uplifted Cross.

A splendid dramatization of the missionary work was given by Mrs. W. C. Baker and Mrs. McGarragh, the latter representing a lady of leisure and wealth who lived for self. The former represented "Conscience" who quietly and convincingly told how much good in missionary lines the price of a popular magazine, an ice cream soda or a gallon of gasoline would do. Through the prompting of Conscience, the thoughtless, selfish lady was made to feel that she could multiply her usefulness by joining the mis-

The HOOVER

It BEATS... as it Sweeps as it Cleans

Now, you can know if your rugs are clean!

Many a good housewife is laboring long hours on cleaning day, confident that she is really keeping her rugs clean.

But we can tell her that there is still dirt in them!

We are sure, because we know that unless she beats her rugs regularly and often it is impossible to keep them free of the heavy, sandy dirt that becomes embedded at the base of the nap.

And until she owns a Hoover we know that it is impossible to beat them "regularly and often."

You can prove that your rugs need beating*... And you will naturally be most anxious to do so. When you realize that your present methods are ineffective, phone us, and we will gladly show you how easy it is to keep rugs immaculate with a Hoover.

*Make this test right now! Turn over a corner of a rug; with the handle of an ordinary table-knife, or something of equal weight, give the under or warp side 15 to 25 sharp taps, and watch the dirt dance out from the nap depths onto a piece of paper; feel the destructive character of this grit. This is the dirt only beating will dislodge. Correct use of The Hoover causes this embedded dirt to be vibrated to the surface by the rapid, gentle tapping of the Hoover brush, as powerful suction lifts the rug from the floor and draws off the dirt into the dust-bag base.

$28,000 Wagered That Solons Cop

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Washington's chances in the American league pennant race prompted a Brooklyn theatrical man to lay $28,000 at odds of 7 to 5 that the Senators would repeat as the pennant winner, it was reported today. The bet was said to have been laid at the Jamaica race track.

CAVE DAY FASHIONS

MADRID, May 21.—Fashion plates believed to be more than 20,000 years old have been found carved on the wall of a cave in Spain. Dresses for the cave flappers were even shorter than now, the carvings show.

Japanese workmen monopolize the plumbing industry in Honolulu.

Are we dressing more picturesque or are we dressing moving picturesquely? Is the craving for color, now the salient characteristic of men's styles, leading us to overdo the thing? I don't think so. Color is only inadvisable if it is inharmonious. Color is character.

Color is taste. Color is personality. Color is the all charm of clothes. Lovely woman, to whom man owes life itself, might well teach him how to get the most out of it by adopting bright color that make life more cheerful. For years it was the fashion to be studiously "gentle" and "conservative" in men's dress, these being polite terms for color cowardice. A vivid-hued scarf of a brilliant handkerchief was supposed to mark the top, or the rounded, or the untamed college boy, who read Plutarch by day and ran after skyward by night. Any group of men who chanced to meet looked almost as alike as soldiers in their regimental uniforms.

It is quite impossible to express the "I" and "My" of one's individuality merely by the cut of clothes, for, with trivial differences, clothes are all the same. They are single-breasted or double-breasted; 2-button or 3-button; peaked-lapel or blunt-lapel. A suit is composed of coat, waistcoat, knickers or trousers. There's nothing more. How, then, can a man set himself apart from the negative Ninety-and-Nine by positive character in his dress? Only through studying and applying color. That interprets his own taste and whim. That is as personal to him as his tooth-brush.

Up to the last few years, men treated their handkerchiefs like a poor relation—unavoidable to have around, yet unworthy to be noticed. A handkerchief went with one's turnout, just as a sneeze goes with a cold or a license plate with an automobile. Today, the once neglected handkerchief is a very important part of men's dress, twinkling with color and to be as fastidiously chosen as one's cravat. Indeed, many well-dressed men own as many colored handkerchiefs as they possess scarfs and both are chosen to harmonize or contrast.

Such handkerchiefs are English foulards, French crepe silks and French, Irish or Belgian linens in bold sporting patterns of the sort sketched here. The first shows a splash spot design in contrasting dark colors upon a light background. The other is a Persian pattern concentrated in the center of the square and relieved with a solid color between middle and barred borders. Still others have spirited sporting scenes executed in bright red-and-green upon blue or brown grounds. Words fail—please pass the Dictionary!

APPOINT WADE AS MANAGER OF GAS COMPANY

F. S. Wade, for the last 13 years superintendent of operations of the Southern Counties Gas company, of California, and a well known figure in the gas circles of the Pacific coast, yesterday was made a vice president and manager of the company at a meeting of the board of directors of the organization, held in the company's general offices, Los Angeles.

A. Schilling, of San Francisco, was named first vice president, replacing C. O. G. Miller, of the same city, who remains a director in the company. Wade was also made a director in the organization, succeeding LeRoy M. Edwards, who continues as general counsel.

Wade is a Southern California man and he received his business training in the gas business in Los Angeles and nearby cities. He was graduated from the University of Southern California, majoring in chemistry. In 1905, he became associated with the Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation, and had charge of chemical control. For a number of years he remained with that organization, in charge of laboratory and chemical development work.

Aid to President Bain

Shortly after the Southern Counties Gas company was organized, Wade was chosen by F. R. Bain, president and general manager, as his right hand man. He was named superintendent and for 13 years has had charge of the operations of this fast-growing public utility. When he first became associated with the company, approximately 6000 meters were served. Today more than 102,000 active meters are shown on the company's books. From a comparatively small artificial gas company serving Whittier, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Monrovia and other scattered communities, Wade has seen the company's system expand until more than 50 cities are served with natural gas in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Ventura and Santa Barbara counties.

The new manager of the company is known as one of the pioneer natural gas men of Southern California. His company was one of the first to develop and market natural gas produced from Southern California oil fields. He is widely known in the gas fraternity of both the west and east and has conducted extensive research work in the above field.

Writes Technical Papers

He is a past president of the Pacific Coast Gas association and for a number of years has contributed papers of a technical nature before meetings and conventions of that body. He is also a member of the American Gas association.

Officers and directors of the Southern Counties Gas company are: Ferdinand R. Bain, president and general manager; A. T. Schilling, vice president; Charles H. Dickey, vice president; A. S. Bradford, Placentia, vice president; F. S. Wade, vice president and manager; W. S. McFarland, secretary and auditor; F. E. Kester, assistant secretary and assistant auditor; T. H. Dudley, treasurer, and LeRoy M. Edwards, counsel; directors, Ferdinand R. Bain, A. S. Bradford, John H. Bartle, Charles H. Dickey, T. H. Dudley, George A. McCrea, C. O. G. Miller, A. Schilling, C. M. Stone, F. S. Wade and W. B. Williams, Santa Ana.

England to Build 10 New Airdromes

LONDON, May 21.—Contracts have been placed by the air ministry for 10 new airdromes in various parts of the country. These are part of the amplified scheme for the use of squadrons of day and night fighters and long-range bombers.

The plans now being developed provide for a series of defense zones. Immediately around London is to be a ring of airdromes provided with every new device to facilitate night-flying. From these dromes squadrons of steel-built fighters for the defense of the capital will be sent up.

Further out will be another chain of air defenders with special coastal stations from which machines will ascend to attack raiders before they reach the coast. From another series of airdromes situated at strategic points will operate big weight-carrying bombers to raid air bases of the enemy.

"CABBY" WON'T FARM

LONDON, May 21.—George Beney, a cab driver here, was left with two farms in Australia by the will of an uncle, but he will not accept them. "I formerly was a member of a band of gypsies and I have done enough wandering about," he says. "I prefer to stay in London."

STANDARD OIL LEASES COVER NEARBY AREAS

A half dozen oil leases, covering approximately 200 acres in territory south and west of Santa Ana have extended the activities of the oil companies as far north as the New Hope district, it was shown today. The leases, secured by the Standard Oil company and Barnett Rosenberg, were recorded this week.

S. A. PLAYERS VIEW PASADENA THEATER

Several members of the Santa Ana Community Players went to Pasadena last night to attend the third performance of "The Amethyst," which is of special interest to local thespians as it is being produced by the Pasadena Community Players in their handsome new $400,000 playhouse.

Every member of the party from this city was enthusiastic over the beauties of the new theater which is said to be one of the finest of its kind in the United States. They inspected the great building and saw the recital hall, the outdoor balconies, the offices, the rooms where shops will be located later and the foyer. After the play the party went down below the stage to the green room where they met and chatted with members of the cast.

Those making up the party from this city were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. Burr Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Speed, Julia Beaumont Cummings and Miss Margaret Cummings. Mrs. Maurice Enderle, Mrs. Jack Cloyes, Mrs. Dennis, Miss Dolly Dennis, Miss Norma Wingood and Eugene Douglas.

HELP FINANCE FOREIGN WORK, URGES BANKER

SANTA BARBARA, May 21.—California bankers should extend and strengthen their international relations with Pacific coast countries, Leo S. Chandler, Los Angeles, president of the state association, told delegates in his keynote address today.

"The west coast of Mexico, Japan, China, South America and Australia are calling for capital with which to develop hydro-electric power, build railroads and irrigate lands," Chandler said.

"If we furnish these countries with our capital we may be able to sell material with which to do the work. California bankers should induce international banks to come into California, and see to it that no change is made in our banking laws which would restrict their activities unwisely."

"We like to contemplate the day when ships now plying the Pacific ocean, multiplied by tenfold, will enter our harbors laden with merchandise from all parts of the world, and then return with products from our fields and factories."

The Angeleno banker declared that California had become the commercial and financial center of the western empire. "Since 1914," he said, "the amount of foreign investments held in the United States has increased to approximately $10,000,000,000, of which 10 per cent, or $1,000,000,000, in foreign securities are held in California."

More than 1000 bankers from every section had arrived today for the first formal session of the 31st annual meeting. Mayor C. H. Anderson, of Santa Barbara, formally welcomed the moneyed men to the city, and Father Augustine, of the Santa Barbara mission, prayed for them.

The California League of Independent Bankers, meeting in conjunction with the state association, elected officers late yesterday, as follows:

Charles H. Segerstrom, Sonoma, president; J. S. Macdonnell, Pasadena, vice-president, and G. W. Buckler, San Francisco, secretary.

MARK BURIAL WITH IMPRESSIVE RITES

Impressive Christian Science funeral services were held at 10 a. m. today, at the Smith and Tut-till chapel, for Charles H. Young, Santa Ana brick mason, who took his own life Tuesday.

The services were conducted by Mrs. F. V. Hoffman, Science reader, and two Science hymns were sung by Miss Esther Davis, accompanied by Harry Carstang.

The wealth of beautiful flowers, featured by a number of pieces, and the large attendance of friends, evidenced the high esteem in which the young man was held in this community.

Contractors and tradesmen, with whom Mr. Young was associated, acted as pallbearers. They were J. H. Nicholson, Henry Walters, Franklin Grouard, Gerald Beard, Walter Wright and Arthur Howard.

Mr. Young was the son of Mrs. Nellie Young and was born here 27 years ago. Following his graduation from the Santa Ana high school, he took up the work of brick and tile laying, and became an expert workman.

LIKE TO SPEAK CHINESE? TAKE QUICK COURSE

You hapai spik pigeon-english? You likee talkee-talkie all same Chinese boy? Then no better stop could be taken than to attend the junior high school fair to open at Frances Willard school tonight, and sign up for an hour's instruction in Chinese under Mr. Quon, a native of the land of the Golden Dragon.

For the alert young people of the school have planned an unusual feature in connection with their fair which opens tonight and will offer an intensive course in half a dozen foreign languages, to aid those who may be planning trips to foreign shores. Those "enrolling" for the evening course (from 7 to 9:30 o'clock) will be taught how to count, how to ask for different things needed when traveling and a number of conversational aids which should be invaluable.

Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Spanish, German and French will all be taught and the teachers will be a group of foreign-born residents and business men of Santa Ana who are generously giving their time through a loyal interest in the city's schools. They include Messrs. Ayala, Quon, Char, Stolte and Higashi with a few others who will aid.

"In this age of travel and long distance transportation by air, it is possible for anyone to travel abroad after little or no preparation and hence such a course might prove valuable to any one of us," today declared C. D. Chamberlain of the Spanish department of the school, who has been active in planning the feature. He declared that the young people had set the small sum of five cents per language, as the admission price to the classes.

While the language classes will be conducted in the upper rooms of the school, the fair will be held in the basement athletic rooms and will continue tomorrow night.

Claim Railways Are Much Safer Than Autos Now

CHICAGO, May 20.—You are in far greater danger in crossing the streets of any city in America than you are in speeding across the country, 60 miles an hour on a railway train. This statement was made here by R. H. Ashton, president of the American Railway association.

"In 1924 of the 931,000,000 train riders, only 149 were killed," Ashton asserted. "This was a decrease of 23 percent of the annual average of the years 1920 to 1923. In 1924 there was an increase of 11 persons who lost their lives, but this was due to an increase of 20 persons who lost their lives boarding or leaving trains in motion."

1924 saw the greatest traffic in railway history. Ashton stated that there was a decrease in the number of fatal accidents among employees.

The most serious problem of the railroad today is to eliminate accidents at crossing, the rail chief continued.

ANAEMIA

A remarkable discovery has enabled thousands of weak, tired, nervous, anemic people to find strength and energy, often in two weeks' time, and to quickly change their leaden pallor and listless look to the pink skin, rosy lips and sparkling eyes of glowing health. Formerly they were given the old-fashioned tinctures and pills made from mineral iron, which many doctors now say are scarcely assimilated at all, and so give little benefit. But since the discovery of a new combination of organic iron—Nuxated Iron—being like the organic iron in our own blood, it promptly takes up by the blood, thousands have found that they can banish every trace of tiredness and distress, these peculiar pains and that nervousness incident to old age, in a few short weeks. Pure Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth or disturb the stomach. It quickly builds up rich, red blood that carries new strength, vitality and youth to your whole body. No matter how weak and ill you feel, or how many other medicines you have tried in vain, make this convincing test: Take Nuxated Iron for just two weeks, and if you do not notice wonderful improvement in strength and energy and look years younger, the Nuxated Iron will promptly refund your money. Nuxated Iron is sold under this absolute guarantee by all good druggists.

What Is Being Done At Convention In Santa Cruz

A departmental forum was held yesterday by the California Federation of Women's Clubs, in session in Santa Cruz, when Dr. Miriam Van Waters, juvenile court judge of Los Angeles, talked on "The Child in the Home Today."

Afternoon was marked by the presentation to the state of the $50,000 Dyer-Platt Memorial grove in Humboldt county, with acceptance by J. W. Pratt, state forester for California. The federation had secured $32,000 toward this purchase before the convention opened, and expected to complete pledges for the whole amount this week.

Election today found a slate as yet unopposed, although there were rumors of last-minute candidates. The Los Angeles delegation of 335 votes stands unpledged. A trip to Big Basin, Redwoods reservation in the mountains, planned for Friday, was called off because of rainy weather.

Resolutions brought in by the committee were as follows:
Requesting the California legislature to enact a law empowering sterilization of men over 21 convicted of sex crimes;

Calling for a questionnaire to United States Senators Hiram W. Johnson and Samuel Shortridge, requesting their position on the other forms, and asking for their influence in its behalf at the coming session of congress;

Adoption of plans whereby presentation of demoralizing sex plays and sale of sex magazines might be barred, declaring 49 sex subject magazines now have a circulation of 14,000,000.

Commending the student body of the University of Southern California for its support of the eighteenth amendment;

Urging support of the government for reforestation plans;

Requesting President Coolidge to withhold support for America's day as a war holiday and urging that it be made a peace day instead.

A. met in the English room of the school recently, when girls of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades sewing and millinery classes gave a fashion show of garments and hats of their own making, together with princess slips, night gowns, and plain, sports and afternoon dresses and hats of all descriptions.

During the show, solos by Miss Edith Cornell and from their own members, Emma Hadley, Dorothy Obar and Betty Jean Wright, were enjoyed, and four girls gave a quartette number.

Andrew Dohmer and Alberta Vail played a duet; Mary Elizabeth White played "Nocturne" (Grieg), after which Mrs. J. Edmund Snow gave highlights of the convention at Fresno. Frances Flynn, Alice Myers and William Howell divided the first and second prizes offered for the best essay on "Preservation of Wild Flowers," as all three essays were deemed of equal excellence. A note of thanks from the principal and faculty to the retiring executive board for their interest and co-operation was much appreciated by the board.

The following officers were elected for 1925-1926: President, Mrs. George H. Greer; first vice-president, Mrs. Roy Lindsey; second vice-president, Miss Lina Brokaw; recording secretary, Pearl Nicholson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Walter Vandermast; treasurer, Mrs. Frank McCarter.

The girls of the cooking classes exemplified their work with the serving of tea and many kinds of dainty sandwiches. The mothers of the girls were justly proud of their accomplishments in the practical field of sewing, cooking and household arts.

Sunday's Bride-to-be Is Complimented at Dinner Shower

With the Cartwright-Crist wedding scheduled for Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First M. E. church, pre-nuptial affairs for Miss Beatrice Cartwright, charming brunette fiancée of Robert Kenneth Crist of Los Angeles, have been many and varied, one of the most delightful being the intimate little dinner given recently by Miss Thelma Stockbrand and Miss Mary Geyer at the Stockbrand home on East Twelfth street.

Adding to the interest of the affair was the fact that Miss Stockbrand is also a bride-to-be, her betrothal to Dale Pickering having been announced in April, while Miss Geyer is to be a member of the bridesmaid group at Miss Cartwright's wedding. Of the guests, one was a bride, Mrs. Carl Wieseman, formerly Miss Grace Ludwig, and one was a bride-elect, Miss Violet Wieseman whose betrothal to a young easterner, William Stauffer of Buffalo, New York, was announced a few months ago.

The Stockbrand home was fragrant with sweet peas and softly lighted by countless gleaming candles. Small tables were arranged for serving the four-course dinner to which were bidden the honoree, Miss Cartwright, Miss Violet Wieseman, Miss Helen Randall, Miss Ruth Oakes, Mrs. Carl Wieseman, Miss Elaine Wharton, Miss Dorothy Cartwright, Miss Helen Walker, Miss Thelma Patton and Miss Jeanne Wilson.

Following dinner the hostesses distributed hand towels which were hemmed as the evening's occupation. When all had been completed, Miss Stockbrand entered with a large tray heaped with interesting packages. These were of a miscellaneous nature which the dinner guests were showering on Miss Cartwright.

Miss Dorothy Cartwright will attend her sister as honor maid at the Sunday wedding while other charming girls of the bridesmaid group will include Miss Wharton, Miss Randall, Miss Patton and the hostess, Miss Geyer.

Birthday Dinner For Popular Young Maid

Her fourteenth birthday was made a very happy affair for Miss Grace Marcher, young daughter of the C. H. Marchers of 443 1-2 South Broadway, when her mother asked a trio of school chums to be dinner guests in the home in honor of the anniversary.

The young girls were the Misses Kathryn Chandler, Mildred Echols and Josephine Miller of Tustin and with them at the table were seated the honoree, Miss Grace Marcher, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Marcher and the latter's sister, Miss Alice Barnes of Los Angeles who aided in directing the entertaining feast of the evening.

The delicious dinner was crowned by a great birthday cake gleaming with its fourteen candles. Many pretty gifts were showered on the little honoree, her most appreciated one being the lovely wrist watch which her father and mother gave her.

In the evening the pictures formed the chief attraction and the party, joined by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Miller of Tustin, enjoyed feature films at local theaters.

Travel Shower Planned Ere Departure For Summer's Visit

Indicating their interest in her approaching trip to Mankato, Minn., where she will spend the summer with her sister, a group of close friends and neighbors of Miss Lulu Rimel chose to compliment her pleasantly Tuesday afternoon at the home of her brother, A. W. Rimel, on South Ross street.

Miss Rimel had been spending a few days in Long Beach as the guest of Mrs. Charles Goff and the Santa Ana friends conspired with her hostess in a plan for her return in the early afternoon after the guests should have gathered. The plan went through beautifully and Miss Rimel was as completely surprised as anyone could wish.

The travel idea was stressed in all the amusements of the afternoon. A number of clever games were introduced, each based on travel. At intervals Master Dickie Phillips, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips, in his role of "news butcher" on a train, went through the rooms calling the proverbial wares of magazines, chocolate bars and other familiar adjuncts of a railroad trip.

Mrs. Phillips aided Mrs. Rimel in planning and presenting the merry features and at the close of the final travel game, Miss Phillips was declared winner and was presented with a gift basket overflowing with pretty things for her to enjoy during her summer's absence. As an added pleasure and to keep in her memory, Santa Ana and its wealth of bloom, was a basket of glowing gladioli presented by her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. E. Rimel. Miss Rimel will leave Tuesday afternoon and will be absent from Santa Ana until in October.

Among those gathered to wish her God-speed were the hostess, Mrs. A. W. Rimel and Mesdames Charles Goff of Long Beach, E. B. Sharpley, William O'Brien, P. M. Truitt, Roy Browning, E. H. Hayes, W. B. Davis, John Mc-Auley, Ernest Crozier Phillips, Louise Stedman, W. E. Rimel, Robert Speed, S. M. Marston, E. E. Patmor and C. C. Dumbas.

Enjoying the affair with Mr. and Mrs. Crozier were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards, Master Alvin Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. John Neal, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. J. Goetz, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rosenmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. John Rudolph, Miss Marie Rudolph, Mrs. N. E. Wells, Miss Verna Wells, Mrs. Getty and a little group of Los Angeles friends, Miss Bush, Mr. Lewis and George Pilon.

500 Party Is Planned
As Farewell Event

A group of friendly neighbors was assembled Tuesday at a party planned by Mrs. J. Rosenmeyer and Mrs. John Rudolph at the Harry Edwards home on Halladay street, to honor Mrs. Edwards' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Crozier.

The honored guests are planning to leave soon for Minneapolis where they will spend the summer visiting old friends and relatives in their former home. They were delighted to have an opportunity of seeing the group of friends who called to wish them a pleasant trip and a delightful visit.

Five hundred was played during the evening with Mrs. Getty and John Neal scoring high and Mrs. Lynch and Jo Goetz, scoring low. Added entertainment was given by music and Mrs. Neal and Mr. Pilon, a Los Angeles guest, gave a number of delightful songs.

Late in the evening Mrs. Edwards centered the card tables with sweet peas in harmony with the flowers adorning her home and the hostess group served appetizing refreshments.

Enjoying the affair with Mr. and Mrs. Crozier were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards, Master Alvin Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. John Neal, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. J. Goetz, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rosenmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. John Rudolph, Miss Marie Rudolph, Mrs. N. E. Wells, Miss Verna Wells, Mrs. Getty and a little group of Los Angeles friends, Miss Bush, Mr. Lewis and George Pilon.

Local Relatives See Pretty Wedding In Pasadena

Many Santa Ana relatives were called to Pasadena yesterday for the impressive church wedding of Miss Martha Octavia Everard, daughter of J. Everard, and Walter John Richards, son of Mrs. H. A. Richards, all of Pasadena.

Mr. Richards is the youngest brother of M. S. Richards of French street and James F. B. Richards of South Birch street, prominent business men of this city who conduct the Richards Brothers Machine works, and also of Mrs. W. H. Lowe of East Sixth street. Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. James F. B. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. Lowe were all in attendance at the wedding.

Preceding the ceremony at 4 o'clock, was an organ and song recital of appropriate music with Miss Marjorie Lorimer at the organ and Miss Elizabeth Walker singing, "Because" by D'Hardelot was among the songs rendered.

The bride, a lovely brunette, popular in Pasadena social circles, was gown in snowy white with a graceful picture hat. Her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. De Rough, a very recent bride; while Miss Marcelline Everard, a younger sister, was honor maid. A little niece, Mary Andrews was the lovely little flower-girl.

James F. B. Richards assisted his brother as best man while Frank Richards of Pasadena and M. S. Richards of this city were ushers. The Rev. Mr. Handel, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, was officiating minister, chosen because of his popularity with all young people of the congregation by whom he is lovingly but with complete respect, hailed as "Bud."

Following the ceremony the wedding party and relatives were guests at a beautifully appointed reception at the home of the bride's father. Later the young people departed on an extended honeymoon trip from which they will return only in time to receive their friends at their home, 547 Jackson street, Pasadena, after July 15.

Mr. Richards is a young lawyer, a graduate of Pasadena High school, Redlands College, and the Law school of University of Southern California. His bride is a cultured and charming girl and an accomplished musician.

KEEN INTEREST EVINCED BY LATIN-AMERICAN DELEGATES AT EVANGELICAL CONVENTION

The convention here last week of the Spanish-speaking evangelical Sunday schools and Young People's Societies of Southern California was wonderfully effective in demonstrating the interest of Mexicans in religious matters, according to the Rev. Ricardo K. Schade, of Orange, president of the association.

"The far-reaching influence for good resulting from the conference will never cease, because there were about 1000 Latin-Americans here to participate in the spiritual activity," the Rev. Mr. Schade said, in pointing out that statistics revealed that the Sunday schools and Young People's societies in the association comprise a membership of 6000, who were represented by 400 official delegates and 600 visitors.

"The delegates and visitors were profoundly impressed by the spirit of cooperation evidenced by local church members who entertained them at their homes and provided them with meals without cost," the president commented.

Resolutions were adopted expressing appreciation of courtesies extended, mention being made of the churches for the hospitality of their members; to the Ebell society, for use of its clubhouse, and especially the culinary department; to J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools, and the board of education, for assistance in Americanization work by giving the use of the school buildings; to the director of the Y. M. C. A. and city officials for special privileges granted, and to a large number of business men and individuals who helped in many ways to make the convention a big success.

Officers Elected

In addition to the Rev. Mr. Schade other officers selected to serve the organization for the following year were the Rev. A. F. Cordova, vice president; Mrs. R. K. Schade, secretary; Rev. Heliodoro Pure, state secretary; Miss D. Ibanez, assistant secretary; the Rev. Ignacio Lopez, treasurer. Redlands was selected as the convention city for 1926.

The annual report of the treasurer revealed that there was $500 in the bank for the coming year's work, according to the president.

"This is a snug balance," commented the Rev. Mr. Schade, "and if good brethren and esteemed friends were to add about $1000, Christ's great cause in Southern California would sound a still heartier note of triumph over the far too many degrading forces holding and pulling back our Mexican brethren, to whom we not only owe the unforgettable debt of days gone by, but also the well-merited debt of today for their indispensable part in the life-giving activities in this country."

Discussing features of the convention, the Rev. Mr. Schade said: "Saturday evening, a colorful pageant, 'The Children of the Bible' was presented by the children of the Anaheim-Pasadena-Atwood Mexican church. The Rev. C. C. Haworth told about the part which the Congregational church is taking in this great common task of domestic missionary work. Rev. J. M. Ibanez fittingly helped to bring this Young People's day to a significant climax. After a beautifully rendered vocal solo by his gifted daughter, Dora, he preached a skillful sermon about 'Knowing and Doing.'"

"Convention Sunday was royally ushered in by a splendid sunrise service. The large number of Presbyterians, Congregationalists, Baptists, Independents, Friends, Methodists, both north and south, Christians, Nazarenes and all the others present, manifested in unmistakable terms, that even though loyal and steadfast in their denominational convictions, after all has been said and done individually and collectively, this prayer of the Master of us all shall be answered in us 'that they all may be one; as Thou, Father, art in me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that Thou hast sent me.'"

Classes Combine
"On Sunday an up-to-date, graded Sunday school of almost 700 pupils from all over Southern California took up its session which proved a marvel of efficiency. The different departments, with their well-taught classes inter-functioned perfectly. At the assembly hour, under the able and live direction of Rev. J. Villareal, all fused themselves into one, solid and united body, representing in a significant way the workings of interdenominational cooperation. A splendid offering was given to the local Mexican church. The Rev.

Humberto Falcon conducted the service which followed the classes. "At the same time, upon the kind invitations of English-speaking Christians, representatives of the convention were forcefully presenting their messages to the different churches of Santa Ana, Orange and El Modena. Time and again English-speaking friends would stay throughout entire sessions of the convention, even though not understanding a single word of Spanish, but according to their spontaneous, unsolicited testimony, they thoroughly enjoyed the spiritual enthusiasm of their Mexican brethren. No wonder that Santa Ana's former mayor, A. J. Visel let himself be caught by the unfailing eye of the camera in the very center of the great convention picture; and that another one of Orange county's very distinguished citizens, P. A. Robinson said, when present at one of the spiritually-rich sunrise services: 'If the spirit of this convention is carried back to the homes of the churches and the communities of these good people, the rest of our fellow-men of Mexican parentage will be won for Christ.'"

Real Inspiration
"The young people got a real spiritual inspiration out of their rousing conference, under influence of their beloved leader, Rev. Francisco O. Quintanilla, a former officer in Pancho Villa's army. They sincerely busied themselves with the principles of Christ, and varied problems of their respective societies, leagues and unions.

A large number of our most valuable laborers, (many of whom back in their own country would be conspicuous in the different trades and professions), were earnestly considering the great achievement of uplift which would result without fail, were each individually, and all in a mighty association to put into practice the pure, humanizing principles of Christ, the Man. The Rev. Heliodoro Pure being their distinguished and magnetic leader.

"The congregation of the Methodist Episcopal church was glad to suspend their regular evening service in order that this great convention might be brought to a well-deserved close. The balcony was occupied by the hosts, the visitors filling to overflow the entire lower auditorium.

"Surely, the day cannot be far distant when Santa Ana, the city of churches, will also place at the disposal of the fine, consecrated, efficient group of missionary workers an adequate community-friendly center. Then its Mexican population, numbering more than 3000 hard-working and God-fearing men and women, many of whom are highly cultured and capable of any of the fine arts, would have better opportunity to exert their influence—and then there would be, as never before, a time of civic and community progress that would make the greater Santa Ana come true in a very short time."

Peritonitis set in, causing her condition to become serious.

WIDOWS HOLD CHARM AT 70, RECORDS SHOW

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—California widows are by far more dangerous to the eligible males of the state than either divorcees or flapper maids.

Statistics revealed by the state bureau of vital statistics show that unwedded native daughters commence to lose their charm after their eighteenth year, whereas, at 70, the widows still are attractive. The "dangerous age" for widows, according to the statistical chart, is 40.

Divorcees also are popular, the chart shows, but the peak of popularity for this class is at 28. The peak for flappers is 18.

Based on the 1924 statistics, gleaned from ages stipulated on marriage licenses, the following figures for the various classes are found:

Maidens: One hundred eighty-five married at the age of 13; 942 married at 16; 1555 married at 17; 6225 married at 18. After this age, the figures decrease.

Divorcees: Three married at 16; 533 married at 28, and one married at 74.

Widows: Two married at 16; 280 married at 40; 19 married at 70, and one at 85.

SANTA ANA PASTOR AMONG OLD FRIENDS

Copies of the Sioux Falls (S. D.) Argus-Leader, sent to The Register by J. A. Derome, associate editor of that paper, disclosed that the Rev. William E. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Santa Ana, was given enthusiastic greetings by his old friends at Sioux Falls. For seven years, commencing in 1912, the Rev. Mr. Roberts was pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Sioux Falls, and was the prime mover in the undertaking that resulted in erection of a new church building.

Concerning the Rev. Mr. Roberts' appearance at the Rotary club at Sioux Falls, the Argus-Leader says:

"Rev. William E. Roberts, formerly of the Sioux Falls Presbyterian church, but now of Santa Ana, Calif., made a most impressive talk, stating first that he was glad to get back to his former home and to enjoy again the fellowship of the Rotary club of which he was formerly a member. His happy vein of humor and ready wit was admirably combined with serious comment on the duties and privileges of a Rotarian."

In 1640, English People Gave their Valuables to the King for Safekeeping!

The goldsmiths of England, several hundred years ago, were the originators of the safe deposit vault for public use, and like many other common utilities, this protective receptacle has romantic history.

During the reign of Charles I of England, in 1640, his subjects deposited their funds in the royal treasury for safe-keeping, but unfortunately the King's income was not equal to the demands upon his purse, so he borrowed the royal deposits belonging to the people and neglected to pay them back. This sort of financing proved quite unpopular, putting this kind of banking out of vogue, for the public had no recourse.

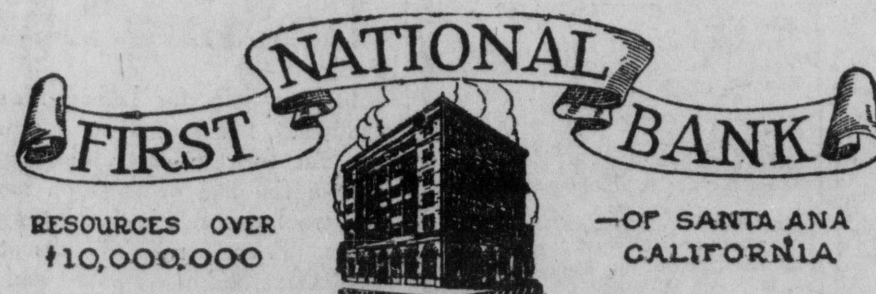

The goldsmiths were able, reliable business men who had provided well for the safe-keeping of the precious metal in which they dealt and their repositories soon became the abiding place of the people's savings. Receipts were issued and these documents began to circulate freely in the marts of trade, forerunning the English Bank Note.

In these days, it would be folly to labor for gain and surplus without surrounding them with protection, and the right kind of protection is nothing short of an investment.

The First National's new Safety Deposit Vaults have been built as well as modern genius knows how and that means that its walls defy the forcible encroachments of man; also, fire, shock and the fury of the elements. Boxes may be had for as little as $2 a year.

REGISTRATION SYSTEM URGED AS CRIME CURB

Adoption of a nation-wide civil registration system for all persons, worked out along the lines of those of Europe, was urged by Capt. George K. Home, chief of the detective bureau of the Los Angeles police department, in an address yesterday afternoon before the convention delegates of the California division of the International Association for Identification.

Captain Home ranks as one of the foremost police officers in the country. In the course of his long service with the department, he has made a thorough study of crime and its causes.

A civil registry system, he said, requiring each adult to carry at all times a card giving particulars about himself, including a photograph, signature and finger print, would not in any way reflect upon the good name and reputation of honest, law-abiding citizens, but on the contrary would serve as a general means of identification.

Would Curb Criminals
In dealing with the criminal element, the police officer explained, the registration system would go far in checking and handicapping the movements and activities of burglars, holdup men, swindlers, automobile thieves, degenerates and their kind, who are now moving from one place to another without any restraint or check whatsoever.

Criminals, and others inclined to live on "easy money" would be less apt to pull off jobs, if they knew that it would not be so easy to jump from one place to another without inviting unwelcome attention from the authorities, Home told his listeners. In this connection he intimated that while the ordinary citizen would carry his card as a matter of course, those of the underworld would have many occasions to exhibit their cards to the police and other authorities, unless they changed their ways of living.

Check on Documents
In other countries where the civil registration system is in vogue, each card carries a serial number, in addition to date and place of issue, it was stated. The cards are renewed at regular intervals, ranging from one to three years. To insure compliance with the registration requirement on the part of all residents, the law of those countries provides that the number and place of issue of the registration card be noted on all legal instruments and public documents. This requirement covers affidavits, wills, deeds, bills of sale, applications for positions in the public service, passports and similar instruments.

Captain Home drew an interesting word picture of the work carried on by his bureau. He also corrected certain false impressions which he said were created by busy-bodies and gossip-mongers who do not care to ascertain the truth, but always have some fault to find with the police department.

Unripe Oranges Colored Before Sold In England

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., May 21.—Painting the lily may be time wasted; but you can't make fruit dealers believe that dyeing oranges doesn't boom trade.

J. F. Liversage, public analyst, is authority for the statement that fruit hawkers here are dyeing unripe oranges with a solution of chrysoidine in order that they may appear ripe. The dye does not affect the orange nor endanger the consumer.

Maybe the fruit dealers have taken a leaf from the book of the flower girls of London, who spray their violets with cheap perfume and dye faded white roses into wonderful red blooms.

Heart Disease Is Main Death Cause

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—Out of a total of 56,751 deaths in California during the last year, more persons succumbed from heart disease than any other ailment, figures compiled by L. E. Ross, director of the state bureau of vital statistics, reveal.

Heart disease claimed 10,572 persons in California during that period. Nervous diseases accounted for 6383 deaths, while tuberculosis was third with 6023 deaths. Father Time claimed 5114 from cancer; 4461 from accidental deaths, such as homicide and violent deaths, and 3897 from pneumonia.

Suicides, 1090; diphtheria, 695; measles, 313; whooping cough, 164, and smallpox, 96.

In 1861, the average was nearly doubled, all of which 365 were recorded in the month of July. On one day in July, 40 inches fell in 24 hours.

Minister Urges Revival of Old Home Standards

An outstanding feature of yesterday's session of the convention was the election of Dr. Glen McWilliams, a retired Presbyterian minister of Los Angeles, to honorary membership in the International Association of Identification. The election took place after the recipient had finished the delivery of an impassioned plea for the re-establishment of the old-fashioned American home with its high standard of morals and sense of community responsibility. He also made a plea for the furtherance and support of the American public school, which, he declared, with the home, forms the cornerstone of the nation.

The following committees were appointed yesterday by President Harry H. Caldwell:

Finance-committee, C. S. Morrill, Sacramento; F. B. Kutz, Long Beach; O. W. Boudinoff, San Bernardino.

Law and legislation, W. M. Veale, Martinez; Captain George Donogh, Los Angeles; H. A. Zink, Palo Alto; W. J. Macy, San Diego; and C. C. Morrill, Sacramento.

Additional arrivals registered yesterday afternoon at the convention headquarters at Santa Ana included W. J. Macy, San Diego; Charles F. Clime, Los Angeles; Captain J. M. Smiley, Martinez; W. M. Veale, Martinez; W. E. Schoppe, San Francisco; Charles N. Watkins, San Francisco; O. W. Boudinoff, San Bernardino; E. M. Veldick, Colton; D. G. Murdock, San Bernardino; M. R. Spencer, Alhambra; Ivan E. Hitt, Stockton; and M. Joe Murphy, Phoenix, Ariz.; C. B. Craig, Santa Monica; Fred A. Knowles, Los Angeles; W. A. Thorpe, Los Angeles.

SUPPORTS RIGHT TO TAKE FINGER-PRINTS

Police officers engaged in criminal investigation have a legal right to photograph and take finger-prints of persons held in their custody for the purpose of identification.

This was the statement made yesterday by C. N. Mozley, chief deputy district attorney of Orange county, in an address before the convention delegates of the California Division of the International Association for Identification.

The speaker admitted that there has been considerable controversy on this point in legal circles and that there have been court decisions both for and against subjecting a suspected person to this procedure before conviction. While some southern states still hold to the policy that a person must not be subjected to this practice until convicted, the eastern, middle western and Pacific coast states have taken the opposite view, it was explained.

In support of his contention, Mozley quoted several court decisions to the effect that police and peace officers have a right to take the measurements of suspected persons held in their custody.

It was conceded by the speaker that the practice of criminals, has its drawbacks and in some instances works a manifest injustice to innocent persons. This is particularly true in instances where the defendant was acquitted.

In such instances, considerable damage has been done to a person's reputation and standing in society through the circulation and publication of his photograph and finger-prints in police circulars, Mozley asserted. Yet, he added, the injured party has no legal redress and the courts, touching on this matter, have held "that even an innocent man may have to give up part of his rights for the common good."

Other speakers declared under a recent decision of the state supreme court an innocent person, whose identification measures form a part of the criminal record of the police authorities, may not recover such data on the ground that they constitute a public record and therefore cannot be removed.

SAYS ASSEMBLY HAS TOO MANY LEGAL LIGHTS

Declarations that the people of California should rise up and protest the election of lawyers to the state legislature; criticism of the practice of officials of San Quentin prison in using the mirror system in photographing convicts; and a prediction that a state constabulary will be organized within two years, featured an address of Clarence C. Morrill, superintendent of the state bureau of criminal identification at Sacramento, at last night's session of the convention of the California division of International Association for Identification.

"There are too many lawyers in our state legislature, and some of them are not averse to the drafting of laws that will create business for themselves and for the protection of lawbreakers rather than for the protection of the public," Morrill declared. Coupled with this statement was the claim that the statute books are encumbered with useless laws that tie the hands of police officers. He suggested that 80 per cent of the present laws should be repealed and the code rewritten entirely.

Huge Enforcement Costs.
Law enforcement, losses by fire of incendiary origin, embezzlement, bad checks and auto thefts, are costing municipal, county and state governments and private interests $60,000,000 annually, the superintendent said.

"If the people of the state would get behind the police officers and if salaries were paid commensurate with the service rendered, this tremendous cost could be reduced by one-third," Morrill said. "It cannot be done with the present general method of kicking police departments in the basement, and expecting officers to go out on duty without proper equipment."

Scores Low Salaries.
Touching on the salaries paid peace officers, Morrill said that no man could be expected to render good service on $100 a month, and he intimated that the low wage was responsible for officers falling before the temptation of graft. "No man is going to see his family starve, especially with temptations and conditions as they are at the present time," the speaker concluded. "Good officers do not stay on departments very long. Private interests soon recognize the 'square shooters' and give them employment at wages three and four times that paid by a city, county or the state—and the people wonder why they do not get

CRIME EXPERTS URGE VALUE OF FINGER-PRINTS

Walter Macy, superintendent of the bureau of identification, San Diego police department, was elected president of the California division of International Association for Identification, at the convention session held this afternoon. He will succeed Harry H. Caldwell, of Oakland.

Denton F. Becker, chief of police of Piedmont, was re-elected vice president.

Herman J. Zabel, superintendent of identification, sheriff's office, Santa Ana, was elected secretary-treasurer, succeeding Adolph O. Juel, of San Francisco.

Matt Spencer of Oakland, was elected sergeant-at-arms, succeeding Zabel in that office. The new board of directors will be made up of Capt. George Donogh, Los Angeles; Harry A. Murphy, Pasadena; Hart Shrader Jr., Sacramento; Harry H. Caldwell, Oakland, and Sheriff W. A. Shay, of San Bernardino.

Stockton was designated as the 1926 convention city.

Papers connected with the various phases of criminal identification work were read by crime experts at the morning session of the convention of the California Division of International Association for Identification.

According to President Harry H. Caldwell, this year's convention will go down in the history of the association as one of the most distinctive as far as results obtained. For the first time, he said, the convention finds men brought together from every part of the state with a new sense of responsibility of their position and under the banner of an organization which, striving for higher ideals and standard of service, has achieved for its members the right to be classed as professional men.

"With life, freedom, reputation and happiness of a citizen depending upon fingerprint evidence, it is imperative that such evidence should be prepared by competent men who fully realize and appreciate the seriousness of their work," W. G. Thorpe, a noted criminologist of Los Angeles, declared, addressing the convention. Speaking on the subject of "Investigating Criminology," he told the officers that on their work depended the conviction of innocent men, the wrecking of homes and unhappiness, unless they used the most painstaking and conscientious care in reporting on fingerprint evidence.

Must Have Right Men.
Stressing the necessity of securing the right type of men for this important work, Thorpe said that there are two kinds of fingerprint experts and identification officers. There are the conscientious men who, in order to do justice to all concerned, are deeply interested in their work and avail themselves of every opportunity to improve their knowledge; and other type made up of the indifferent men who are apt to take things for granted. This latter type, the speaker declared, is a distinct menace to the liberty of innocent suspects.

Coupled with these observations, he emphasized the need of having all readings and classifications uniform to avoid presentation of evidence that might result in the miscarriage of justice.

Stop and Think.
"Before you present evidence to the court and the jury, stop and consider what it might have meant to you had one of your dear ones been on trial," he admonished the identification men. "There have been mistakes," he added significantly.

Touching on the great increase in juvenile delinquency, Thorpe took a fling at the type of newspapers which are polluting homes with sensational accounts of murders, scandals and salacious features. Quoting figures obtained from the public schools, he said that children in the grammar grade are today making a habit of reading murder stories. "Our children today are psychologically being fed on things destructive to their future life," he declared, summing up what he thought an intolerable situation.

Taking up another side of criminal investigation, he warned the members of the audience from accepting a high state of nervousness on the part of a suspect or witness as an indication of guilt. It has been proven times and times again that men, women and children, who have never had any dealings with the law, exhibit an extreme state of nervousness when investigated or called on the witness stand, he remarked.

"The Relationship of Dentistry to Crime, Criminals, and Peace-loving Individuals" was the subject of a paper read by Dr. Edward Appel, a well known Los Angeles dentist.

3 Day Missions At St. Ann's Church

Services at St. Ann's Catholic church last night, initiating a three day mission at the church, were well attended. Father William Kross, of the Japanese Mission in Los Angeles, is conducting the series of meetings. His sermon last night was on "death," and he stressed the importance of one keeping death in mind always, that one may be prepared for the life to come. The services will continue tonight and tomorrow night.

Father P. C. Santy, priest in charge of the local parish, announced today that the congregation is arranging for a barbecue dinner to be held at the church on May 27.

HAMMOND TAKES DRASTIC STEPS TO STAMP OUT THREE POLY HIGH FRATERNITIES

Drastric steps to stamp out three fraternities known to be operating in the Santa Ana polytechnic high school were today openly taken by Principal D. K. Hammond. Students involved were given two weeks to withdraw affiliation with the banned secret organizations.

The situation was brought to an issue at a special assembly of all the boys of the school, called yesterday afternoon by the principal. During an intermission before the meeting was dismissed, half of the students present are said to have walked out.

Startling revelations were made, indicating that secret societies, forbidden by state law, have been actively inveigling Santa Ana high school students into membership. These organizations were branded by the principal as a "menace" to the school.

"Undesirable School Citizens"
Prohibitory measures will be enforced against the three fraternities operating in the school, Hammond said. Students who retain membership in the societies, he asserted, will be considered undesirable school citizens and ineligible to participate in athletics and school activities.

Unqualified endorsement of the stand taken by Hammond was contained in a communication received from the presidents of the Orange county university clubs, signed by H. C. Miller and George H. Baker, president and secretary, respectively, of the Santa Ana Men's Stanford club; Fred Porkey, president of the Orange County University of California club; and Homer C. Chaney, president of the Orange County Pomona Alumni association.

Regret Fraternity Effort

Excerpts from the letter follow: "It is with a good deal of regret that we learn that efforts have been made in Santa Ana to carry on one or more camouflaged high school fraternities with direct or indirect connections with the Santa Ana high school."

"We have been informed that one inducement held out to high school fraternities is the statement that membership in one of these fraternities is a stepping-stone to membership in a college fraternity. We wish to say that such a statement is not only far from true, but is actually ridiculous."

"It is our positive declaration that college fraternities, in looking for memberships, have an eye to good citizenship along with other qualifications. College fraternities, more and more, are seeking high-class men; they are not looking for high school outlaws."

Support From Stanford
Another letter received from Eugene Trago, formerly of Santa Ana, and now president of the Inter-Fraternity council at Stanford university, expressed warm support for Hammond in his fight against secret high school orders. Alarm over the situation was quieted by the principal. He stated that the influence of the fraternities in the high school has not been sufficiently strong to be felt.

"The fraternities in Santa Ana are not high school organizations. Their membership is made up, mostly of outside persons, with only a few high school students being admitted," Hammond declared. "For the best interests of the school, all trace of these illegal organizations must be removed," Hammond demanded, charging that they tended to subvert loyalty to the school to that of their fraternities.

Retires to Give Estate More Time

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Announcement was made today that Martin De Brabant, assistant traffic manager of the Union Pacific railroad, with offices in Los Angeles, would retire from office the last of this month.

De Brabant has held his position here since 1921. He is resigning to devote his time to the administration of the estate of his father-in-law, the late Senator William C. Clark, of Battle, Mont., and New York City.

Senator Clark died on March 2, last, and his daughter, Mary C. De Brabant, was named one of the executors of the estate, which is expected to be more than $10,000,000.

H. S. STUDENTS TO COMPETE IN FORENSIC MEET

Students from the high schools of Orange county will vie for honors in the annual forensic meet to be held tomorrow afternoon at the San Juan Capistrano high school.

Opening contests for the freshman and sophomore tryouts will begin at 2:30 o'clock. The junior and senior winners will be determined in contests to be held in the evening, at 7 o'clock.

During the intermission between the afternoon and evening judging a tour is to be conducted through the mission gardens at Capistrano. Extensive plans to entertain scores of visitors are being made by the Capistrano high school.

Students of the Santa Ana polytechnic high school are to be dismissed early tomorrow, in order that they may attend. Sharp rivalry among the county schools is expected in the claims for honors.

Emil Foster will represent Santa Ana in the senior division of the contest. He will compete with the other senior students in delivering an extemporaneous oration on some phase of law enforcement. The Santa Ana student in the junior essay contest is Melvin Harter.

Among the sophomores, Miss Justina Palmer will be entered from Santa Ana. She will express a prepared opinion. Miss Mary Jane Brunner, of Julia Lathrop junior high school, will give an extemporaneous reading in the freshman competition.

Three places will be awarded students in each of the class divisions. Supremacy in the contest is coveted by the county schools as indicative of the acme of forensic attainment of the year, it is said.

DELUGE ISOLATES NOTED ENGINEERS

J. B. Lippincott, Los Angeles engineer, who made a survey of the water lands for the city of Santa Ana and recommended the construction of a huge reservoir, today was marooned at Gibraltar dam near Santa Barbara, by floodwaters.

In the party with Lippincott were James R. Chapman, famous Chicago engineer, Herbert Nunn, Santa Barbara city manager, and George Morrison, Santa Barbara city engineer.

The party was inspecting the dam when a cloudburst swept down the Santa Ynez range and washed out the highway leading to the dam. It probably will be several days before the waters subside sufficiently to free the stranded men.

According to reports to Santa Ana pack mules will be used to wade the waters and carry provisions to the marooned engineers.

No Trace Found of Alleged Kidnaper

WINTHROP, Me., May 21.—Authorities and hundreds of citizen volunteers early today had found no trace of Miss Alda Hayward, believed to have been kidnapped yesterday.

The supposed kidnapping followed the wounding of Miss Hayward's aunt, Mrs. Emma M. Townes, who was shot at the cottage at Lake Maranacook, where the two were living.

An unknown man appeared at the cottage, shot Mrs. Townes in the neck and arm, and then burned the house. He is believed to have taken Miss Hayward with him as he fled.

FAVORS EDISON USE OF POWER FROM COLORADO

Boulder dam should be taken over by the Southern California Edison company for development of the power of the Colorado river, it was declared by Col. S. H. Finley, secretary of the Colorado River Aqueduct association, in a talk to Santa Ana junior college students yesterday.

"The sensible policy would be for the Edison company to control the project and furnish power at low rates to cities of Southern California," Colonel Finley said.

Possibilities for development of the southwest, through completion of the enterprise, were pointed out by the speaker. He said that the reservoir would furnish an unequalled source for water and power supply.

"When finished, the 600-foot dam will make the largest artificial lake in the world," Colonel Finley asserted. "It will serve several desirable purposes. Water for power and irrigation will be stored; the danger of flood waters in the Imperial valley section will be eliminated, and waste silt of the rich soil carried along by the Colorado river will be collected."

The reason for Arizona holding up the project by refusing to sign the six-states pact was attributed by Finley in a large part to politics. He said that Arizona desired to have the dam changed to a site within the state.

Plans for building an aqueduct to supply water to cities of Southern California were outlined. Finley estimated that a population of 10,000,000 in Los Angeles could be adequately served with water from that source.

BENEFITS TO CITIES FROM CONVENTIONS ARE OUTLINED

M. W. A. Magazine to Publish Article, Picture on Gathering In This City

S. A. PROFITS FROM MEETINGS IN S. A.

Larger Cities Are Finding It Profitable to Employ Convention Experts

By E. NEIL STANLEY, Development Editor Register.

Do cities derive any permanent benefits from conventions? And will Santa Ana profit from the conventions being held in Los Angeles this summer?

The answer is in the affirmative to both questions. Any community that can secure a convention may count itself fortunate. In the case of Santa Ana, this community may consider itself doubly fortunate, for a large number of those who come to Los Angeles' gatherings usually come to Orange county and Santa Ana on sightseeing trips.

Recently, the state convention of the Modern Woodmen of America was held here, with members of the order present from all parts of the state.

Give Delegates Data. The lodgement was taken on tours of the city and vicinity and were generously supplied with literature appertaining to the city. When they left Santa Ana, all of this community's many attractions were indelibly impressed upon their minds.

Isn't it logical to assume that these visitors will tell their relatives and friends about Santa Ana? And isn't it also logical to assume that the visitors themselves will want to come back here to live? Undoubtedly, some of the delegates bought property here during their visit. Real estate men say that a convention always means increased business for them. Hotels, cafes, clothing firms, and the like, also profit.

Santa Ana received national as well as state publicity because of the M. W. A. convention. This order publishes its own magazine in Illinois. Pictures taken at the gathering here, together with an article on the meeting, will be published in this magazine and sent to the thousands of members located in all parts of the country.

Delegates to conventions in Los Angeles nearly always go on trips to points of interest in the Southland. Inasmuch as Orange county is one of the most attractive sections of Southern California, they usually spend some time in this district. Whether these people are merely sightseeing, or looking for

Many Realtors Plan to Attend Big Convention

Reservations for the all-California all-western train, which will leave Los Angeles June 17, via the Southern Pacific, for the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at Detroit, are coming in rapidly to the office of the California Real Estate association.

WILL OCCUPY NEW CHAMBER HOME SHORTLY

By A. L. OLIGER

The building of a new chamber of commerce home on the grounds of the St. Ann's Inn merely shows that this city is going forward and should prove to everyone that the business men of our community feel confident that Santa Ana is destined to continue in its position as a leading center of Orange county and the southern counties. Within a short time, the new building will be completed on this ideal spot, a location that is ideal for the purpose of making the right contact with anyone who has vision and who is interested in making his home in Santa Ana. In other words, the location is typically Californian, and as people are coming here for the purpose of locating in the best possible surroundings, it is good business to see that the first impression of our city is a lasting one.

Another outstanding feature of the new location is the fact that the chamber will be in a position to keep in close touch with the leading people of Santa Ana, due to the fact that the leading service clubs of Santa Ana hold their weekly meetings at the St. Ann's Inn. The office location will permit the executive secretary to keep in weekly touch with these leaders and this feature alone should have considerable to do with the future success of the organization.

In these days of the parking problem, this question is also eliminated, for a person with an automobile can drive right up to the door of the chamber, park his car and get the information desired without fear of being tagged.

There are a number of other features in connection with this new building that will be in evidence as soon as the chamber has moved in and we feel confident that this move on the part of the leading civic organization of Santa Ana will be approved most heartily by the thinking people of our good city. As the city grows the wisdom of this move will become more pronounced and the men of vision appreciate this fact. Solomon once said "Where there is no vision the people perish." Santa Ana and the chamber of commerce will continue to grow and prosper.

Who's Who in Community Development

J. E. LIVESEY sr.

One of the best known realtors in this city is James E. Livesey sr., who came to Santa Ana 20 years ago from Petersboro, New Hampshire. Livesey, who is a native of England, came to this country at the age of 10 years. When he reached Santa Ana in 1904, he opened a bicycle and sporting goods store in the present site of the Odd Fellows hall. About four years later, he changed his location to East Fourth street and in 1912, he moved into a large store at 214 to 216 East Fourth street.

In 1915, Livesey sold the business to his son, James E. Livesey jr., and his son-in-law, J. E. Preston, and entered the real estate business. Livesey sr. specializes in ranch, apartment house and bungalow court property. At the present time, his son is engaged in business with him. Livesey is the president of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors and, owing to his indefatigable efforts for the welfare of this organization, the membership has steadily grown and the organization is stronger now than at any time in its history.

He has unbounded faith in this city and declares that business is getting better all the time and that Santa Ana is forging to the front as one of the best known industrial centers of the Southland. What little spare time Livesey gets away from his business and the work for the board of realtors he spends in golfing or enjoying a good ball game. Livesey is located at 116 West Third street.

S. A. INSPECTOR GIVES WARNING ON WHITE ANTS

Building Chief Declares Pests Causing Damage To Structures Here

A warning to Santa Ana builders to beware of termites or white ants, was issued today by Building Inspector W. S. Decker, who said that the pests are causing thousands of dollars worth of damage to structures here.

Decker declared that a recent investigation of a house here revealed that practically all of the woodwork in the lower part of the building has been eaten away by the termites. There are undoubtedly dozens of houses in Santa Ana that are in a similar condition because of the pests, he states.

To prevent this condition, Decker advises builders to keep wood away from the ground. If this is impossible, the material should be impregnated with coal tar creosote. Heat, steam, insecticides and fumigants are of no permanent value against the termites, it is said. After the ants have been cut off from their moisture supply in the ground, a liberal dose of carbon bisulphide will kill the pests all over the structure, according to Anson A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner.

The termites are six times the size of the ordinary ant.

IRVINE WELL IS DOWN 3318 FEET

The Irvine No. 1 well of the Standard Oil company is down exactly 3318 feet, Production Manager Lawson said over the long-distance telephone from his office in Los Angeles today, in answer to an inquiry from the Register.

Lawson declared that the drill is not in oil sands. He stated that he was not at liberty to give out any details of the sands encountered by the drillers.

Reports have been in circulation from time to time that the Irvine No. 1 was in the oil sands and would be placed on production soon. Should a well be brought in, an entirely new oil field would result.

Hold Conference On Realty Work In L. A. Saturday

Harrison Lewis, chairman of the educational committee of the California Real Estate association, has issued a formal invitation to all real estate boards throughout the state to send representatives to the real estate educational conference, which will be held at the University of Southern California, in Los Angeles, Saturday.

The conference will start with a noon luncheon, with discussion following. Several officers of the state association, including D. Richard Ainsley, president, and Glenn D. Willaman, secretary, will be present. Dr. Emory Olson and Prof. H. J. Stonier of the university are cooperating with the realtors.

Santa Ana will be represented at the meeting by Jack Wallace, chairman of the board's educational committee, and the men who have studied realty work under his direction.

Realty Chief To Speak At Detroit Meet

D. Richard Ainsley, Fresno, president of the California Real Estate association, has accepted an invitation to speak at the annual meeting of the National Board of Presidents and Secretaries of State Real Estate Associations, which will be held as part of the convention of the National Association of Real Estate boards, according to word received by the Santa Ana board.

Glenn D. Willaman, secretary of the national board, has been invited to speak on "How a State Association Can Conduct a Successful Publication."

DRUG STORE IN S. A. CLIMBS TO EIGHTH PLACE

The Santa Ana Rexall drug store, owned and operated by E. T. Mather, jumped from 19th to eighth place on the 1924 honor roll of Rexall stores of the United States, according to word received by business volume, it was revealed here today by Mather.

The volume of business done in the Rexall stores in the various cities of the United States is accepted as a true index to general business conditions in the different communities. By taking eighth place on the roll, Santa Ana store made a remarkable demonstration as to business conditions here, for there is only one Rexall store here, while cities of higher rank on the roll have from two to 40 stores. The towns exceeding Santa Ana were Los Angeles, with 40 stores; San Francisco, with 15; San Diego, two; San Pedro, seven; San Jose, with 60,000 population, and Richmond, two stores.

San Bernardino, Riverside, Pomona, Long Beach, Glendale, Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Bakersfield, Stockton and Sacramento, all with Rexall stores, failed to make the honor roll, which is evidence that they did not do as much business as Santa Ana.

Although California is eighth in population, the volume of sales exceeded that of any other state in the Union, giving the state first position on the roll. Ninety-one Rexall druggists are on the honor roll, New York being next, with 68.

Based on retail costs, the volume of business done by the Rexall stores in the state was the equivalent of purchase by every man, woman and child in the state of 65 cents worth of Rexall products during 1924. According to Mather, this average is exceeded only by those states with sparse population.

'CONTEST' METHOD PLACED UNDER BAN

The legislative committee of the California Real Estate association, which Freeman H. Bloodgood of Santa Ana is chairman, has joined forces with the state real estate department in an effort to eliminate the old game of lot selling through "contests."

The plan was worked extensively until recently, when the department's agents brought pressure to bear against the companies holding the so called drawings.

The chief aim of the "contests" was to get live prospects.

SHELL COMPANY MAKES SURVEY FOR BIG POOL

Anticline Reported to Run Parallel With Field at Huntington Beach

That oil discovered in the Costa Mesa district is one end of an anticline which leads across the valley toward Huntington Beach and parallels the Huntington Beach oil field, was the opinion expressed today by geologists and landowners.

Strength was added to the belief when it became known today that a survey was taken across the valley recently by the Shell Oil company. Although a survey has been made of the land, no offers have been made to landowners in the section surveyed, it is reported.

Strike Light Oil

The formation, according to those who have studied it, runs northwest and southeast. Further strength has recently been added to the theory advanced as to the oil formation by announcement that the Interstate well, Norris No. 1, on the west edge of the bluff at Costa Mesa, had struck a much lighter oil than has been found in wells to the southeast, at a depth of 1400 feet. Wells further south and east have encountered a heavy oil at a depth of from 340 feet, at the Thomas Sharkey oil mine, to 635 feet at the Interstate well, Newport Mesa No. 2.

Production Increases. Meanwhile, although activity in leasing has decreased in and about Costa Mesa, considerable interest is centered about the well now being pushed to completion by the Rosenberg Oil company, on a lease secured not long ago from the Interstate Oil company. The well is situated near the Interstate Newport Mesa No. 2, and, according to latest reports, should be placed on production within the next two weeks.

Oil production at the Interstate well, Newport Mesa No. 2, has been steadily on the increase, according to information received from a reliable source, and has picked up from 80 to nearly 120 barrels of oil per day.

Work on the Interstate Oil well, Newport, Heits well No. 1, which lies south of Costa Mesa, and east of the Newport boulevard, has been abandoned again, following resumption of operations several days ago. Machinery at the well is ready for immediate use, however, and the pump at the well has been standing full of oil.

Mine 345 Feet Deep

Progress is also being made on the Thomas Sharkey oil mine. The shaft of the mine is 490 feet long and reaches a depth of about 345 feet. Miners are at work at the present time making a large room which, when completed will be 50x50 feet, and which will be large enough for installation of several pumps. The oil will then be heated by means of steam pipes and forced up out of the shaft. Recently, an auger used as a feeder for oil was blown from a hole through the crust which is on top of the oil formation. A plug was placed in the hole to stop the oil from surging up into the shaft.

It is expected that development work will be started by the Rosenberg Oil company on its large community lease in the near future. Several other companies, including the Coalina Oil company, which has been paying as high as $500 an acre bonus, also are expected to start work within a few weeks.

L. B. Man Plans To Run for State Office

Of interest to realtors of Santa Ana is the announcement that Frank F. Merriam, Long Beach, speaker of the assembly, will be a candidate for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket in 1926.

Merriam is well known to realtors throughout the state. During the sessions of the last legislature, he took an active part in fostering legislation backed by the California Real Estate association.

The Long Beach man was the principal speaker at a banquet held in Sacramento recently in honor of D. Richard Ainsley, Fresno, president of the association.

HOME COSTING $6000 PLANNED BY LOCAL MAN

Five thousand dollars will be spent by E. D. Small, of 909 South Main street, in the erection of a six-room dwelling and a garage at 2435 French street. Herzog, Honer and Farney have the contract.

E. J. Homan, of 911 Kilson drive, has secured a permit for construction of a dwelling and a garage at 915 Kilson drive. The cost will be $4000. The owner will supervise the work.

Mrs. Mildred Akens, of 316 North Main street, plans erection of a five-room house and a garage at 521 North McClay street, at an expenditure of $3200. William Ulm is the contractor.

A store structure, 23 by 40 feet, will be built at 1002 Orange avenue by J. E. Pierce, of 309 Bay avenue, Balboa. Kidder and Shipp have the contract.

LOCAL MEN OPEN MOUNTAIN RESORT

Representing himself, L. E. Smith and W. T. Elliott, C. W. Yonge today announced the opening of the Mile High Resort, operated by the three men under the name of the Mile High Resort company. The location is at Strawberry Flats, on the rim of the world drive, in the San Bernardino mountains, 16 miles from San Bernardino, via Waterman canyon.

The local men have erected a number of bungalows, each supplied with running hot and cold water, private bath, screen porch and full accommodations for house-keeping.

"The elevation is 5800 feet from the porches of the bungalows, one can look out upon Catalina Island and 20 California towns that have been built in the rich valleys below," Yonge said. "The resort is in a location where road sport may be had the year-round, dancing, horseback riding, snowshoeing, skiing, tobogganing, and other winter and summer sports."

BIG ANAHEIM ORANGE SHOW SCHEDULED TO OPEN FRIDAY

100,000 Persons Expected To Visit Attraction at Mother Colony City

ENTIRE INTERIOR OF TENTS DRAPED

Entertainment Will Include Bathing Girl Revue and Songs By Noted Singers

ANAHEIM, May 21.—Hundreds of gay flags decorating the streets of the city, crews of busy workmen hurrying about, with the main activity centered at the huge show tents in the northern part of Anaheim. Such is the scene on the day before the opening of what is declared to be the greatest California Valencia Orange show to be held here since the plan was inaugurated, five years ago. The show opens tomorrow morning.

Day and night, for the last week, crews of workers have been laboring constantly to prepare the hundreds of exhibits for the entertainment during the 10 days of the show, from May 22 to June 2, inclusive.

Tent Blaze of Color. Draperies of purple and gold against a background of rose, intermingled with blue, make the main tent a blaze of color, amid which are dozens of special displays, shrines to the Valencia orange.

Beauty, such as only the artist can design, has been woven around each display, all of which feature the Valencia orange. Novel arrangements of the fruit, or combined with colorful backgrounds, make many of the displays achievements that have never before graced an orange show.

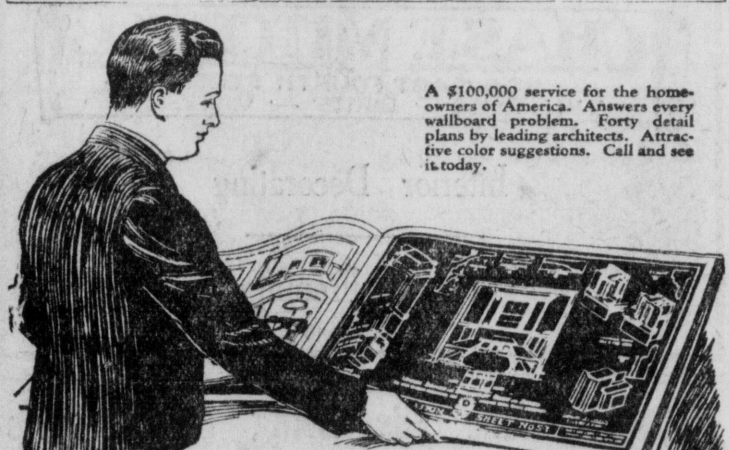

Visitors to the show this year, at least those who have seen previous Anaheim orange shows, will be delightedly surprised with the effect that has been obtained by completely draping the interior of the entire tent, shutting out all glimpses of the canvas top. All poles have been wrapped or constructed in the form of colonnades, which make the tent equal in beauty to that of a building.

Entrance Feature. The permanent entrance to the show is another feature that is expected to bring numerous compliments from the visitors.

This entrance has been designed of stucco of grey tone, Moorish in architecture, and the arrangement gives the effect of entering a great Moorish temple, the arched gateway entering into an open garden or patio, in the center of which is an immense fountain. The ground of the garden has been entirely covered with crushed red stone, producing the effect of a stone flooring, which is exceedingly striking against the green of the fountain and shrubbery.

Tent Has Large Stage. From this main entrance, the visitors will pass into the largest of the three show tents, and in which the most beautiful exhibits will be housed. There will be no concessions or industrial displays in this tent. A huge entertainment salon, at one end of which is a large stage gorgeously draped, is also found in this tent, and here

NEW BUILDING FOR TELEPHONE FIRM PLANNED

ANAHEIM, May 21.—Erection of a new central office building for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company was announced here today by E. A. Beard, manager of the exchanges at Anaheim and Fullerton, who stated that the company had completed arrangements for the construction of a three-story office on a site on the west side of Lemon street, this city, between Charming and Cypress streets. The building and equipment will represent a total investment of $270,000.

The structure will be reinforced concrete, 40 by 92, and will be first erected with only two stories, the third to be added at a later date. The plans are so designed that the floor space may also be extended. Construction work will be started during the summer months and will be completed in the fall of this year. The plan is to have the equipment ready for service early in 1926.

Stucco of a grey tone and window trimmings of Mediterranean blue, has been chosen for the exterior of the structure. The base trim around all openings will be of hand-tooled cast stone. The entrance to the building will be through a stone trimmed archway leading to a vestibule which will have a ceramic tile floor and will be finished with an ornamental plaster ceiling. The windows on the second story front will extend from the floor to a considerable height, and will be of the casement type, leading to hand wrought iron balconies. The frieze above these windows will be quite ornate to relieve the severity of the design.

Since the structure will be first finished only to the third floor line, there will be a moulded metal cornice above which will be panels containing balusters to form a balustrade.

In the basement will be located the cable vaults for the telephone cables. The storage batteries, auxiliary charging apparatus, boiler room and storage space will also be situated in the basement.

Telephone booths will be installed on the first floor near the entrance. The front portion of the first floor will be used for a business office, and the remainder of the space on this floor will be used for telephone apparatus, terminating and similar equipment. The switchboards, operators' locker and rest rooms will occupy the entire second floor.

ANAHEIM ORANGE SHOW OPENS FRIDAY

will be staged the entertaining features of the show. Just what the program will consist of has not yet been announced, but it is known that several prominent motion picture stars have been secured for the affair and will give dancing and singing numbers. A bathing girls' revue will be another feature that will find a place among the daily forms of entertainment, and several noted singers and musicians, in addition to excellent orchestras, will make the show worth while for the thousands of guests.

Tent For Autos
A separate tent will house the automobile display, and in this is found a striking color scheme of red and gold, which is expected to be an exceedingly attractive background for the cars.
In the third tent, will be the industrial exhibits, while in the central outdoor section formed by the three tents, will be the "joy zone," where workers are busy erecting merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, and the dozens of other concessions that attract old and young.

Practically all of the larger cities have convention departments which are devoted exclusively to securing conventions. Due to the activity of the convention office of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, 54 important gatherings were held there last year.

The Shrine convention in Los Angeles means a great deal to the entire Southland. The fez wearers and their families are coming by the thousands. ## BRITAIN FEARS FOR FUTURE OF COTTON TRADE

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 21.—That section of the Lancashire cotton trade which uses American cotton is this month making a desperate effort to formulate a program that will lead them out of the Slough of Despond.

They are holding a conference under the auspices of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce. Owing to internal dissension, this is the first time anybody has been able to get them together since 1922-23. Most of the big spinners are peculiarly individualistic Englishmen with a profound dislike for Rotary club ideas of "teamwork" and so forth.

This section of the trade uses American cotton but intensely dislikes American ideas. Its main trouble is that American cotton is now so expensive that the trade can no longer sell its goods to its former customers, the great masses of people in India, the near east and the far west. The Japanese are capturing the bulk of this business with a very cheap cotton cloth.

Among the suggestions which will be canvassed are:

Looking elsewhere than to America for cotton, especially securing government help for the encouragement of cotton in the British dependencies and dominions. Making the present 48-hour week a minimum instead of a maximum as at present.

Converting some of the machinery that is now idle into the spinning and weaving of Indian cotton and thus recapture the Indian markets from the Japanese.

Putting pride in the pocket and make cloth of inferior quality to compete with the Japanese output.

Sticking out for lower taxation and for lower shipping charges.

Predicts State's Population Will Soon Be 4 Million

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—California's population will total more than 4,000,000 at the end of 1925, according to an estimate prepared by L. E. Ross, chief of the state bureau of vital statistics.

Based on the annual increase in population, the figure arrived at by Ross is 4,021,323.

Ross' statistics shows that each year 77,936 more persons enter California from other states and countries than emigrate to other places.

The stark travels four lives an hour faster than death in California, figures released by the state board of health show.

The rate on births is one every six minutes, while every 10 minutes death takes away one of the citizens.

In 1925, the baby crop will exceed the number of deaths by 30,148, the estimates show. In 1924, 86,899 native sons and daughters were added to the population.

Carrying this figure down through a number of divisions, the chart shows 238 babies a day or 10 an hour, which is one every six minutes.

LOVING CUP IS AWARDED TO SANTA ANA CONCERN

Here is picture of cup awarded Puritas Water company for success in recent sales campaign.

Puritas "Go Get It" sales campaign came to an end on May 1 with the Puritas Water company of Orange county, which is managed by William Chanin, winner of the loving cup.

Chanin explained that the big sales campaign was inaugurated at the home office in Los Angeles on March 15 and lasted six weeks. "It was a close race from start to finish and I made up my mind to win," said Mr. Chanin. The silver trophy is now on display in the window of the Bonquet Shop, 315 North Main street, this city. There were half a hundred service routes in metropolitan Los Angeles, with the branches at San Pedro, Venice, Pasadena, Riverside and other cities between Bakersfield and the Mexican border out to win the cup.

"But the honor of winning the race was due both to real sales work," said Mr. Chanin, "and the splendid cooperation given by the people of Santa Ana and Orange county." "Exactly one year ago, this month, I came down to Santa Ana and started the Puritas Water company. At that time several important changes were made in the method of selling Puritas. Among these changes was the eliminating of the deposit charge on equipment and the loan of coolers to responsible homes and offices."

BUILDERS' QUERIES ANSWERED

By Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America

Q. How many shingles will be required to shingle a plain roof of a five-room bungalow? I will use 18 inch shingle and expose 5-12 inches to the weather.

A. Using 18-inch shingles, exposed five and one half inches to the weather, it will require 707 shingles to cover 100 square feet of roof. This will allow for waste in doubling the first and last course. Shingles are packed in bundles of 250 each. To find the amount required for your house, first find the square feet to be covered, divide this by 100, which will give the number of squares. Multiply the squares thus obtained by 707, the number of shingles required per square, and this divided by four will represent the number of bundles of shingles you should purchase.

Q. What is a good priming coat for painting an old brick wall?

A. First, the wall to be painted should be thoroughly cleansed. The cleaning should be done only when the wall is dry. For a priming coat a good formula often used is 20 pounds of dry Venetian red, 10 gallons of raw linseed oil, with a little dryer, say about one pint. Smaller quantities should be mixed in the same proportion. For best results, this coat should be allowed to dry a week before applying the second coat.

Q. What depth would you advise the foundation of a six-room bungalow be below the surface of the ground?

A. Unless you have unfavorable sub-soil conditions existing, a foundation, twelve inches in width and six inches below the surface of the ground at all points will be satisfactory. It is not necessary to have the foundation more than six inches in width at the top, above the ground, if constructed of concrete.

Q. What lumber would you advise for mudsills?

A. Mudsills should be of redwood or western red cedar and be at least two inches by six inches or three by four inches in cross section.

Q. I notice that many of the stucco houses being built are cracking very badly. As I contemplate building a few of them, I will appreciate it if you will advise what method of construction to use which will prevent cracking.

A. Cracks appear in stucco houses from various causes, one of which is an inferior foundation. Many houses are built on light foundations without giving any consideration to subsoil conditions. If the ground is adobe, the foundation should be carried below the adobe strata or the builder should place a six-inch sand cushion under an don both sides of the foundation. This will prevent any contracting or expansion of the adobe, from raising the house at one more than another, which is one of the principal causes for cracks in stucco buildings. All corners should be reinforced by a 12-inch strip of metal lath. Care should be exercised in applying the stucco.

They Tore Down the Old Sign

We used to have a big sign on the north side of our old store at Fifth and Sycamore. For eight years it shouted to all those who read as they ran, the fact that "BIG N MASH AND BIG N SCRATCH ARE HONEST, ECONOMICAL, UNIFORM POULTRY FEED." For three hundred and sixty-five days in the year this sign proclaimed to the world that here was the "HOME OF BIG N FEEDS."

Every night about six-thirty or seven, when the day's work was done I used to go around on Fifth Street where my old car was parked. And there, always, was that sign—like an old, tried friend—working for me. Kind of funny how you get attached to an old friend, isn't it? It was a good sign—bold in its colors of blue and red, white and black. I always kind of loved it because it was bold—standing there

Eugene O'Brien and Laura La Plante in a scene from "Dangerous Innocence," current attraction at Walker's theater.

Corinne Griffith and Lloyd Hughes in a scene from "Declasse," picture beginning three-day engagement at the Yost theater tonight.

"DECLASSE" OPENS AT YOST TONIGHT

Hardly a ripple was caused in Beverly Hills when it was announced that Corinne Griffith had purchased a new home there. Already she was surrounded by a host of motion pictures and kings of finance the addition of another seemed no reason to break forth in celebration.

So blase Beverly yawned, turned its head toward the mountains, pulled its feet in from the sea and went back to sleep. For this sleepy place houses the estates of our famous movie stars.

However, if one might peruse the real estate pages in the local papers they would find that the renowned beauty and cinema queen had purchased a beautiful English residence surrounded by four acres of landscaped gardening and had paid $100,000 outright for the estate. The following day she began work on "Declasse," to be shown at the Yost theater for the next three days.

Scarcely 20 years of age, Beverly Hills has become a "gold mine." It is the age old story. When first laid out the lots sold for a song. Since then millions have changed hands for choice bits overlooking the mountains, the sea or the plains.

"DANGEROUS INNOCENCE" AT WALKER'S TONIGHT

"Dangerous Innocence," now playing at Walker's theater brings together pretty little Laura La Plante and Eugene O'Brien as co-stars. In "Dangerous Innocence" these two favorites of filmland have been provided with a vehicle that cannot but more strongly entrench them in the public's favor.

In addition to Miss La Plante and Mr. O'Brien, the production has been given a strong supporting cast. Among the women may be mentioned Hedda Hopper, Millie Davenport and Martha Mattox, while the secondary male roles are capably handled by Jean Hersholt, Alfred Allen and William Humphrey. These well known people of the film world have been grouped about the stars so that all have been fitted into roles allowing for the best display of their talents.

Amador Will Still Use Trick Make-up

LOS ANGELES, May 21—Charlie Chaplin's legal victory over Charles Amador will not prevent the latter from using the trick Chaplin make-up on the screen.

Attorneys for Amador announced that their client would continue to dress like Chaplin, in forthcoming film productions. One comedy will be released immediately, they said, featuring Amador in baggy pants, trick derby and brogans.

Chaplin was granted an injunction Tuesday restraining Amador from using the name, Charles Alpin, and from imitating his screen character whenever it tended to "deceive the public."

"We never intended to use the name Charlie Alpin," said Ben Goldman, Amador's attorney. "The picture, 'The Race Track,' will promptly be released under the name of Charles Amador, and even though Amador is dressed like Charles Chaplin, there will be no intent to deceive the public, because he will be clearly labeled 'Amador.'"

CLUB IS TOLD MORE OF WORK FOR CRIPPLES

Kiwanians of Santa Ana today had fuller knowledge and higher appreciation, if that were possible, of the work and accomplishments of the Orthopedic Hospital and School for Crippled Children in Los Angeles, following presentation yesterday at the club meeting of entertainment numbers by Maxwell Williams, a pupil, and an address by Miss Helen Sinclair, a member of the hospital-school publicity staff.

Introduced as a member of the minstrels organized by crippled children at the school, the lad entertained with selections on the bones, being accompanied by phonograph music. The boy also told of how he had been benefited at the hospital. When he went into the hospital, his deformity was such that he had to wear braces and walk with a cane. Recounting the different operations he submitted to he said that he was now happy to state that he could walk without either—a situation due entirely to the operations.

Inspired by Kiwanis Club Miss Sinclair declared that the Santa Ana Kiwanis club was the inspiration that inspired the crippled children of the hospital and school to greater efforts in their own behalf, the inspiration coming from the wonderful support given the minstrel show put on here a year ago by the cripples and sponsored by the Santa Ana club.

"The Santa Ana club gave the members of our troupe their first real thrill," Miss Sinclair said, in referring to the entertainment. She said that, heartened by the reception given here, the troupe had since appeared in public entertainments at Riverside, San Bernardino and Riverside.

Citing specific instances of successful corrections made in the deformity of some of the boys, the speaker said Kenneth Green, the boy in a wheel chair who sang here, now was able to walk by holding on to something.

"When this boy entered the hospital five years ago, he could only move his eye lashes," she said.

Find Work for Cripples Miss Sinclair said that from funds derived from various entertainments the senior alumni had established at the hospital and school a gift shop and employment bureau, articles made by the patients being sold at the shop, and employment being secured for cripples through operation of the latter.

Chester Williams, the monologist at the entertainment here a year ago, whom many will remember, she said had won first honors in an oratorical contest conducted by a Los Angeles newspaper, and had entered in a national contest. Williams, she said, had written a clever one-act comedy. This, with additional acts, will be presented later here and elsewhere, she anticipated.

Expressing appreciation for the financial assistance given the institution by the local club, through its underprivileged children's fund, Miss Sinclair pointed out that demands on the institution are increasing very rapidly. The number of applications for admission or for service at the hospital for the month of January last was 300 per cent greater than on the first of the previous year. During the month, 2547 applications were received.

Miss Sinclair said that the school now is much overcrowded, and that the school day was divided into two periods—one group attending in the forenoon and another in the afternoon. In the craft shop, pupils work in relays.

According to the speaker, 762 cities are represented by children receiving treatment and by applicants. "This means that in the field, we are getting the hearts of the people," Miss Sinclair said. "And it is through the boys that we want to interest everyone in our work." She declared her belief that in 10 years there would be no deformity that science could not correct.

Miss Sinclair recited details of the daily schedule of the children, the day starting for the older group at 5 a. m. Development of an orchestra of nine pieces is one of the latest activities in the promulgation of a program for interesting the inmates.

Most Are Charity Cases She said that seven-eighths of the cases coming to the hospital were charity cases, and that 18 surgeons and physicians were giving their services free for two clinics held weekly. Where parents feel like paying for examination, a contribution of 25 cents for each examination is permitted, she said.

Assistance of underprivileged children is one of the major activities of the local, as well as other Kiwanis clubs, and the recital of the work of the institution inspired the local Kiwanians. The membership of the local club each week contributes to the fund.

Fred Blauer, who is chairman of the committee, and who is one of the hard workers of the club, was chairman of the program. He declared that his association with the work of helping crippled children was one of the most pleasing features of his activity in the club.

Miss Sallie Lee Scales added to the program by rendering three vocal solos. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Ruth Armstrong.

To undertake the higher education it appears that one must start by removing all the old incumbrances, such as shirts and pants. Or, perhaps, in connection with their studies of history, University of Pennsylvania students thought it well to illustrate that chapter of the French revolution relating to the "Sans Culotte," historic pantless brigade. Or, again, since the Pantheon was the hall of fame of ancient days, some wise cracker may have decided upon a Pantheoff. At any rate here you see the sophomores and freshmen in their annual pants-removing scene, with results that seem to indicate that the primitive isn't so far off after all.

"Bootleggers, this is a result of your product," read a large placard on a wrecked automobile pulled through the streets of Des Moines, Ia., on orders of Chief of Police Cavendar, shown in the inset above. In the car, which was said by the chief to have been wrecked because of a booze party, rode a policeman and a figure wearing a death's head, brandishing aloft two bottles. Cavendar says he intends to repeat his "object parade" every time a car is wrecked, adding to the placard the names of those who sold the liquor.

These five busts will be added to the Hall of Fame, New York University, at the annual unveiling. Left to right are: General William Tecumseh Sherman, Charlotte Cushman, John Marshall, Harriet Beecher Stowe and Asa Gray. Of course, you recognize the gentleman who first announced that: "War is Hell," and the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Do you know the other famed ones? Very well: Charlotte Cushman was a celebrated actress and singer of the eighteenth hundreds; Asa Gray was the foremost botanist of his period and author of Gray's Manual and John Marshall was the most famous of American jurists.

Fullerton H. S. Alumni to Have Annual Meeting

FULLERTON, May 21.—With the date of annual reception of the Fullerton Union high school alumni association set as June 19, plans are being got under way to make this year's event one of the most successful ever staged.

The membership of the Alumni association now numbers more than 1000, and the acceptance of the members of this year's graduation class will increase the number considerably. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the reception are William Dowling, James Tuffree, Horace Blair, Arthur J. Jelly and Miss Shells Ross.

ALUMNI ASSN. AT H. B. PICKS TURNER HEAD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 21.—Glenn Turner, local merchant, will replace John Murry as president of the Huntington Beach high school Alumni association for the coming year, it was decided at the annual election of officers held at the school recently when more than 200 alumni celebrated annual "home coming day" at the school.

Miss Gladys Barnes was elected secretary of the association. She is the only officer of the organization who has served continuously since the organization of the alumni association. She has been secretary for the past eleven years and it was because of her excellent work in the position that the honor of being a life officer was conferred upon her.

William Berry was elected vice president for the coming year, and Charles Blaylock treasurer. The alumni gathered at the school during the morning hours to attend classes and inspect the school. Following the morning session a baseball game was enjoyed on the high school field. During the evening the business meeting and banquet of the association was held. Several members of the association and members of the graduating class gave short talks.

FULLERTON, May 21.—That every merchant on Spadra avenue, between Commonwealth and America, has agreed to the plans by which the American Legion post here proposes to place flags on days of special observance, was announced at Tuesday night's meeting of the Legion.

With enthusiasm shown by the business men, in front of whose places of business the flags will be placed, the Legionnaires have started their drive for funds which will finance the project. Holes will be driven in the sidewalks, near the curb, and the flags installed in them on every patriotic occasion.

Chamber Names Street Committee

FULLERTON, May 21.—Committees having been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce and residents of West Commonwealth avenue, for the purpose of taking action on the widening of Commonwealth, for the extension of Manchester road into Fullerton, a committee consisting of Mayor H. H. Crooke, chairman; W. J. Carmichael, Roy Davis and W. A. Moore, was selected Tuesday night by the city council, to meet with others in the near future.

Various plans for the widening of the highway have been suggested, but it is anticipated that the committees, meeting in joint session, will decide on definite plans.

LIONS CLUB OF ORANGE MEETS IN COW BARN

ORANGE, May 21.—"Lions dine in cow barn!"

That was the startling occurrence yesterday, when about 85 members of the Orange Lions club and their guests met for the organization's regular noon meeting in the spacious barn of the Edward Stinson dairy.

One new member, Dr. John Riley, Orange dentist, was initiated into the club yesterday, and in a brief talk he exclaimed that he considered it "a great compliment to be made a Lion in a cow barn."

Consume Dairy Products. A stable-length table, decorated with flowers, seated the guests, and a menu, consisting in the main, of dairy products, was the means of satisfying the craving hunger of the young Orange cubs.

The menu included plenty of milk, fresh creamery butter and rolls, cottage cheese, home-made ice cream and apple pie, potato, vegetable and macaroni salads and cold meats.

E. B. Lefferts, manager of the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, spoke to the Lions yesterday on methods of acquainting the public with safety-first ideas.

"The best manner in which to educate the people," said Mr. Lefferts, "is to begin at once in setting a good example to the children." Then he went on to explain how children will habitually do what they see their elders doing, and he stressed the fact that civic organizations should lead in setting such examples.

A second method of safety education advocated by Mr. Lefferts was to maintain throughout the country, strict enforcement of traffic laws. "Law enforcement, not only because of the resulting revenues, but for the good of humanity, is what we need in every city," the speaker said.

Advocate Golden Rule. In conclusion, Mr. Lefferts said that if we intend to set a good example, we should at all times, while on the road, live up to the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." Mr. Lefferts, who was obtained as a speaker through the efforts of A. P. M. Brown, Orange representative of the club, also spoke in the schools.

Other speakers at the meeting were H. C. Wahlberg and William Cory, Orange county farm advisor and assistant farm advisor. Their brief talks were confined to dairy problems and their solution. They also pointed out the importance of dairymaking today, and in what manner the dairy is related to the farm.

Following the dinner, the visitors were conducted throughout the various work-houses of the dairy. A unique guessing contest, in which the guests were asked to guess how many pounds of milk five picked cows gave in a period of 30 days, resulted in a flood of answers varying, in some cases, by thousands of pounds.

Glenn Coe's answer of 6,900 pounds was nearest the correct amount, 6,923. Mrs. A. P. M. Brown placed second in the contest with a guess of 7,000. George Sherwood, A. P. M. Brown, L. F. Coburn and Curt Henderson were elected as official delegates yesterday to the state Lions club convention to be held next week in San Diego.

RANCHERS IN FAVOR OF PORT BONDS, SHOWN

ORANGE, May 21.—If the straw ballot taken among the members of the Orange Community chamber of commerce may be taken as a criterion, the $1,200,000 Orange county harbor bond issue will meet success at the polls.

But, while members of the local chamber favor the port bonds, they do not believe the present is an opportune time for calling the election.

That was indicated in the referendum poll taken among the membership during the past week, which resulted in the casting of 137 votes favoring the project and 32 against it out of a possible 350 votes.

Of the 105 who favor the bond issue, however, 75 desire a delay of more than a year in calling the election. Only 28 voted for the October election date, while two failed to express preference of a date.

The referendum further showed that 47 of the 75 who favor the delay, prefer the election called at a date later than 1926.

Of the seven non-members who voted in the referendum, six were emphatically against the project, while the other wanted the election in October.

This Pretty Girl Defies Age By Using Ordinary Buttermilk To Beautify Her Complexion

Tells Druggists not to take any one's money unless this delightful new vanishing Cream quickly shows a decided improvement.

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crows feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, get a small quantity today at your favorite toilet goods counter with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money should you be dissatisfied.

Beautiful actresses say, "A short massage with Howard's Buttermilk Cream at night before retiring is all that is necessary." At all drug-gists.—Adv.

EVENING SALUTATION

Who seeks for heaven alone to save his soul,
May keep the path but will not reach the goal;
While he who walks in love may wander far,
But God will bring him where the Blessed are.
—Henry Van Dyke.

MUST HAVE OWNERSHIP

That the growth of Southern California is limited by its ability to furnish domestic water has been emphasized time and again during the past two years. It was emphasized again at the meeting held this week at Placentia, by William Mulholland, Los Angeles engineer who built the aqueduct and who proposed the bringing of Colorado river water to Southern California for use by Southern California cities.

But there was one statement that Mulholland made that ought to bring every city interested in the project to tense attention. Mulholland said that Riverside, San Bernardino, Santa Ana and other cities need not take part in the bringing of the Colorado river water across the desert.

"They can buy water from Los Angeles city," said he. "Los Angeles will furnish them with water just as water has been furnished cities around Los Angeles since the aqueduct was finished. Those cities were annexed to Los Angeles, and they are getting Owens river water. Los Angeles city can put this project through alone without a metropolitan district plan such as was defeated in Sacramento."

The metropolitan district plan contemplated a district of Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange and Los Angeles counties, with all the cities interested having a part in paying for bringing the water of the Colorado to Southern California and each city entitled to ownership of a part of that water.

If Los Angeles alone brings the water to Southern California there will be mighty little of it for sale to other cities. The price of getting Colorado river water will be annexation to Los Angeles city. We aren't ready to be annexed to Los Angeles city; we aren't ready now and we hope never to be. Our stand, therefore, ought to be first, last and all the time in favor of a water district in which we will acquire ownership of a part of the water brought from the Colorado.

SUCCOR THE LITTLE ONES

Kiwanians left their luncheon table at St. Ann's Inn yesterday with a song of joy in their hearts. They not only heard from Miss Sinclair, of the Orthopedic Hospital Foundation of Los Angeles, about the good they have been doing, but they saw and heard at first hand the actual result and the story of the successful treatment of Maxwell Williams, a young boy who went through that institution.

If there is anything in the world more piteous than a crippled or deformed child, we have yet to find it. And not only the Kiwanis Club but all citizens—especially all parents of children—should feel it a privilege and a duty to hunt out these little ones and see that they have the benefit of science in relieving them of their terrible handicaps and suffering.

From what Miss Sinclair said, many cases of crippled and deformed children could be prevented if the first signs of the disease or deformity could be noted and treatment given before further development. Babies and very small children should be watched closely—not only one's own children but all children with whom one comes in contact—so that unobservant or uneducated parents may have the benefit of the counsel and advice of those who know more about such things.

It is a terrible wrong to permit any child to develop deformity, or continue to suffer it, through lack of attention and proper treatment. Ignorant neglect is bad enough, but wilful neglect is a crime. To one guilty of wilful neglect of a little child might well be applied those solemn words of the Nazarene: "It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck and he be cast into the sea than that he should offend one of these little ones."

A $100,000 PAVING JOB

To be exact, the paving job is not $100,000; it is only $99,535.39. However, $99,535.39 is quite a sum of money.

The amount named is the contract price for paving portions of West Washington avenue, Lowell street and North Artesia street and portions of other streets in the northwestern part of the city.

The letting of the contract is significant in that it marks a substantial achievement on the part of men and women interested in property in that section. It is proof not only of the faith of these property owners in that section of the city but is an indication of what can be done when property owners get together in a co-operative association.

No groups of residents are going to spend $99,535.39 for improvements unless they have faith in their section and their city. If you happen to know of anyone who is so lost to a sense of optimism and whose judgment is so badly warped by reason of dyspepsia or some other grouchy-producing agency that he cannot see how Santa Ana is to keep on growing, cite him to this $100,000 street paving job—to be exact, $99,535.39, which, you will admit, is fully as convincing as $100,000.

NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCE

Santa Ana is to have a new traffic ordinance in effect thirty days hence. The wonder is not that we have a new traffic ordinance but that we have managed to get along for months without bringing our old ordinance up to date. However, the city trustees have made good use of the delay, for they have been studying a problem that all of us must admit is a trying one.

Traffic conditions vary. An ordinance that fits the situation today may be woefully out of place a year hence. So, the new ordinance may prove not to be exactly the thing that is wanted by a majority of the residents of the city.

It is a certainty that objections to it will be raised. It is absolutely impossible for anybody to frame an ordinance for Santa Ana or for any other city its size and with its traffic activities that would not be subjected to adverse criticism and striking objections. What appears to one person as a serious traffic hazard or annoyance may seem as naught to another. A remedy proposed by a merchant on Fourth street, to the retired Iowa farmer may appear to be an unjustifiable nuisance.

The city trustees have framed an ordinance that they believe will come nearest to meeting the needs of local conditions. Looking over its provisions casually, we are convinced that in general the ordinance will prove satisfactory. If it does not prove satisfactory to a large and vigorous portion of the city, changes can and will be made.

Great Figures Called

They are calling the long roll in Heaven—and many illustrious ones on earth are answering. Amy Lowell and Sir H. Rider Haggard taken from the realm of literature; Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, famous warrior, called from the field of arms. Day unto day adds to the numbers of the eminent summoned by Death. Here is one visitant that levels all distinctions—that brings the great and powerful, the weak and humble; the talented and the simple-minded, to one common physical level in the tomb.

In literature, as a writer of verse and as a critic, Amy Lowell distinguished herself, becoming a stylist—sometimes erratic, but always brilliant. She came of a distinguished New England family and maintained its traditions for intellectual vigor. Sir H. Rider Haggard roved a literary field full of mystery—South Africa. Some of his works are of rare charm for romantic flavor and creative imagery. He also gave important service to the British Empire in time of stress.

General Miles' sudden death closed a long and brilliant nemesis of the hostile Indians of the West and Southwest—his career as Indian fighter being especially notable. He was old enough to see active service in the Civil War and in the war with Spain and he led the successful expedition into Porto Rico. He will rank high among America's military leaders.

Make Him Show Credentials

Being persons of sound sense, no doubt the Californians informed that they are heirs to an estate in Australia, worth several millions and left under circumstances that suggest "Uncle Bim" and his fortune, will keep their jobs until they actually get the money.

There is nothing unusual in stories of huge fortunes lying around waiting to be claimed, but it is unusual for the claimants to get them. Many lawyers have been enriched by preliminary legal fees from clients that died poor.

The time when imagination is excited by such stories of good luck as has come to Joseph Hayes, the Recorder's copyist, and Alma Rubens, Hollywood film actress, is the time when warning should be given generally to persons informed that they are heirs to large estates. Usually the money has been left by an uncle that left Ireland when a lad and, unknown to his family, amassed a fortune and died a bachelor.

It is to be hoped that the expectations of the Hayes-Rubens heirs come true. Congratulate them by all means, envy them if you must, but be slow to believe that you have an "Uncle Bim" of your own. Too often he turns out to be a confidence man.

California Woman Honored

Californians will be proud of the honor that has recently been conferred on Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general of the United States, in recognition of her important work in behalf of prison reform.

Mrs. Willebrandt has been especially influential in bringing about reforms long needed at the federal prison in Atlanta, Georgia, and in the establishment of an industrial institution to be built for women prisoners at Alderson, West Virginia, and this outstanding service has been acknowledged by the national committee on prisons and prison labor awarding Mrs. Willebrandt a medal for the most important prison work during the year 1924.

Added to native ability and good legal training, Mrs. Willebrandt possesses marvelous energy and enthusiasm and no amount of discouragement or hard work will turn her from a cause to which she has committed herself. Those who know of Mrs. Willebrandt's untiring efforts in behalf of bettering prison conditions, can appreciate how gratifying it is to her to see her laborious work bearing such constructive results.

While the work is the thing that counts with Mrs. Willebrandt, her friends are glad that she has been given public recognition for her splendid achievements.

The Better Educated Girls

A news note from Oregon reports that 2993 high school seniors are expected to graduate from Oregon high schools this year, while only 2564 boys will obtain diplomas. Probably this is about the proportion in the schools of most states.

Quite a change from those days when it was not thought it was necessary for girls to have an education, as all they needed to know was how to cook and keep house.

Many boys, of course, drop out to take jobs, but they should beware of the competition of the future. They may be able to hold down work that calls for muscular labor, but very many of them will not do well in positions calling for the ability to think, in competition with girls who have devoted additional years to the cultivation of mental powers.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Clifford C. Robinson

REGULATING FOODS

In a previous article on proteins, the idea may have been given that meat was a necessary part of the daily diet. This is not the fact, however. The article stated that too much protein was better than too little. This is true, if the food containing it is varied and bulky.

Regulating foods are those that help the body secure the proper amount of the different nutritious elements that are found in the three great groups. One of the most important of these is mineral salts. These obtain in cereals, fruits, many whole grains, green vegetables, the yolks of eggs and milk. When eating these foods be careful to get the real nourishment out of them they are intended to supply.

The best way to eat an apple is to eat it skin and all. The real meat of the apple is next to the skin. In peeling, you simply throw away a large part of its chief nutriment.

In the cereals, whole wheat and graham flour, also corn meal and oat meal contain valuable mineral salts. Don't use too much sugar with your cereals.

Eggs are much better and more nourishing, if eaten soft boiled. Fruit, celery, fibrous vegetables and nuts contain these valuable mineral salts and should be, to some extent, a part of your daily diet. They also give the teeth good exercise and help keep the gums in a healthy condition.

Water should be taken freely every day, six or eight glasses at least. It is valuable as a lubricant and contains such minerals as iron, sulphur, magnesium and lime. These minerals are bone builders.

The bulky foods are used for their regulating of bowel action. Spinach, lettuce, cabbage, onions and asparagus should be freely used all the year. The fruit juice of oranges, lemons, apples and tomatoes are also fine in their regulating action on the intestinal tract.

These Are Hard Days for Slapstick Artists

City of The Future

Schoenaday Gazette.

John Nolen, city planner of a leading New England city, told the New York conference that our big metropolitan cities have reached their limit of size and predicted that every tendency from now on would be of the nature of decentralization.

The point of efficiency was reached some years ago and has been declining. Every new invention of the past quarter of a century has been in the direction of aiding decentralization. All our greatest problems of today, moral, mental, physical, spiritual, contain the huge factor of overcrowding intensive areas.

Eliminate this factor and most of our problems would lose half their discouragement and terror. Many old institutions which have been hitherto the mainstay of civilization are constantly near the breaking point because no way is found to counter the effects of congested population.

Civilization has outgrown the city and demands something better. It is not a return to nature or back to the soil or the slogans of a generation ago we are looking for now, but something better than that, as well as better than the improved but still impossible old-fashioned city.

IT'S SPRING

Soft mists upon the mountain tops,
And songbirds on the wing,
While fleecy clouds go floating by.

It's spring, spring, spring!
Odors sweet of orange blooms,
And of rose, the breezes bring.

Of heliotrope and violets,
It's spring, spring, spring!
Scent of sage and chapparral.

A pungent, desert thing,
The gleam of 'God's tall candlesticks,'
It's spring, spring, spring!

Bright poppies on a green hillside,
A golden carpet fling,
Blue lupine swaying in the wind.

It's spring, spring, spring!

SHORT CAKE

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

This strawberry season is appetite teasing. I'll bet you'll agree on that point. I've eaten and eaten and fed on this treat, till I've near thrown my jaws out of joint.

No man ever tarries o'er luscious red berries. What wonderful tid-bits they seem. What more could you ask, than to sit to the task, of devouring some berries and cream?

And then, for relief, it is my firm belief, that you always can tickle your eye by sittin' and grinnin', and shortly beginnin' the eatin' of strawberry pie.

Oh pappy, how happy a fellow can be when this fruit's at his beck and his call. But, when they are serving the berries to me, give me shortcake—the best of them all.

Just picture the dough, that with brown is aglow, and the berries all squashed up just right. And here's where I stop, 'cause I guess that I'll hop out and get me some shortcake tonight.

Scoffs at Claims of Great Antiquity

By T. T. Waterman, Fresno State College, in Fresno Republican.

I feel impelled to arise with comment on the excavations in Nevada, which have played such a part recently in the public press. I used to be an employee of the Heye museum, which is conducting the work there, and I was an employee of the University of California, which institution excavated the same region (if I am not mistaken) many years ago.

The stuff gotten out of Nevada is very beautiful, indeed, to the archaeologist. Aside from everything else, it is in a marvelous state of preservation. Messrs. Harrington, Bush and L. L. Loud are all acquaintances of mine and nice people. I do not know how many of the statements concerning the site come directly from them. Let me remark, however, that some of the things which have been said are ridiculous in the extreme.

One oft repeated statement is that ruins have been uncovered older than Tut-anh-amen's tomb. Older than the tomb recently reported by Reisner at Gizeh (also near a former University of California site), older, in fact, than any structures known to history. This is mere chatter and hysteria. I do not know how old the Nevada ruins are, but I will bet half my wife's property that I know as much about it as anybody. There is no dated chronology in Nevada, nor in the Pueblo region anywhere, for that matter. In the absence of dated monuments any talk about age in years is, therefore, highly improper.

The greatest archaeologist in the world, looking at the ruins, knows just as much about the age of these things in years as I do sitting in The Republican office.

AGE COMPARATIVE
I want to be plain about this. It is a fair presumption that what is

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 16—THE PARADISE BIRD

"Well! Well! Well!" cried Doctor Bill. "Who is this coming?" Nancy and Nick looked out of the window and saw a big bird settle down in a nearby tree—a bird such as they had never seen in all their lives before.

"It's a perfectly beautiful bird!" cried Nancy flinging open the door and rushing out. "Come on, Nick! Come on, Doctor Bill—and see him!"

Nick and the bird doctor were close at her heels for they just as curious as Nancy was. Doctor Bill settled his glasses on his nose and peered up into the green depths of the tree.

"Why, I do believe—yes, sir, it is, as sure as you're born here, cried. "How do you do, sir! Come on down. We are on friends here. No one will hurt you."

"Are you sure?" screamed the bird. "Am I at the right place? Is it this Doctor Bill's hospital where he fixes up sick birds?"

"Yes, sir! This is the very place, and I am Doctor Bill himself. These Twins are my helpers. They won't hurt you. Come on down."

"All right, I'll come," said the bird. "But after all I have gone through, I am even frightened at my own shadow."

Down flew the bird, and Nancy and Nick almost forgot to breathe in their amazement. If the peacock was beautiful, this new bird was a hundred times as lovely. He was black and purple and violet and brown with feathers like let and brown with feathers like neck. His eyes and throat were two colors of green, his long beak was a sky blue and his feet as pink as June roses. But that was not all. Out of his wings grew great sprays of soft orange-colored feathers that arched up over his back in a great shower—almost hiding him.

These soft plumes kept waving gracefully this way and that as he moved until they looked like a shower of pure gold in the sunlight.

"Oh!" cried Nancy. "Oh!" exclaimed Nick. Even Doctor Bill cried out at the great beauty of the bird.

"Why! What is it?" asked the bird anxiously. "Don't you like me? What's wrong?"

"Nothing," said Nancy. "It's just that you are so lovely! We never saw a bird as beautiful as you are."

"What Me!" cried the bird. "Am I pretty? I knew I was called the Bird of Paradise but I never knew I was considered handsome. Is that why they tried to catch me?"

"Who?" asked Doctor Bill. "Some little brown men," said the Bird of Paradise. "They had queer little arrows and shot some of my brothers. But I got away with only a wounded foot."

"Yes, that is why," said Doctor Bill sadly. "These brown men sell birds like you to white men who sell them to people to put on hats."

"Dear me!" cried the poor Bird of Paradise. "It's terrible to be pretty. I'd rather be ugly. Then I'd be safe."

"You may stay here at my house," said Doctor Bill kindly. "and you will always be safe. I'll have a look at your sore foot now."
